Services will be held Tuesday for Larry Daniel Reynolds, 16-year-old Beaver Local High School student who was injured fatally Saturday when his pickup truck plunged over a steep embankment northwest of Glenmoor and struck several trees.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reynolds of Pleasant Hill Rd., near West Point, the youth died about 12:15 p. m. Saturday at City Hospital of multiple fractures of the skull, according to Dr. R. C. Costello, deputy coroner, who has ruled the death accidental.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the youth was driving south in his father's pickup truck when he apparently lost control on the straight grade of Route 267 near Swaney Airport, and the truck veered off the highway between the airport road and a bridge at the bottom of the hill.

There apparently were no witnesses and the wrecked truck and injured youth were not spotted until about 11:30, when Norman Shaw, who resides on the opposite side of a small valley, saw the wreck when he came home and was looking for his pigs.

The Glenmoor fire department ambulance and three men were called and transferred the unconscious youth to the hospital, arriving about 11:45.

Witnesses said the truck smashed through a barbed wire fence, knocked down some saplings, ran between two large trees and finally struck another large tree. The youth was out of the cab and on the ground when the ambulance arrived.

Dr. Costello said the boy had been working with his father earlier in the morning and left home about 10:30 toward Glen-

Negotiators Reconvene In Ware Plants' Dispute

Negotiators for the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the U. S. Potters Association met at the bargaining table again today in a renewed effort to settle a three-week-old pottery strike.

Resuming after a weekend recess, the union and management officials met at 9:30 this morning at the USPA headquarters on E. 4th St. with George Woomer of Pittsburgh, federal mediator.

Woomer called the two sides together a week ago today in an attempt to reach an agreement and the sessions continued daily through Friday.

The strike in 11 dinnerware plants, including 5 in the East Liverpool area, has idled some 5,700 potters in the first general strike in 37 years. Some 3,500 are idled in the East Liverpool district.

Whisked Away By Guards

Bid For Freedom Lost By Red Aide

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — A Soviet military attache who apparently had tried to escape by leaping from a hospital window was flown out of Rangoon on a Communist plane Sunday.

A screen of 40 hefty guards from the Soviet Embassy roughed up newsmen and prevented them from questioning him.

Hospital sources said the attache was Col. Mikhail I. Stryguine, who apparently wanted to get political asylum in Burma. The embassy neither confirmed nor denied published reports of his identity.

The slightly built, haggard looking man was brought to the airport in a Soviet Embassy car minutes before a Chinese Communist transport plane took off for Kunming and Peiping. He was hustled aboard with such haste most of his personal baggage was left behind.

A weeping woman identified as his wife, a Soviet nurse and two guards accompanied him.

Hospital sources said Stryguine was brought to the hospital a week ago suffering from an overdose of sleeping pills. It was reported he had tried to commit suicide when told he must return to the Soviet Union. His wife and two Soviets sat with him all night, the woman weeping almost continuously.

The next day, upon recovering, Stryguine shouted invectives in English against the Soviet regime and his associates at the embassy. He asked that Burmese officials, particularly the director of military intelligence, Lt. Col. Win, be summoned. Apparently he wanted to ask their protection.

The two Soviets then demanded that he return to the embassy and tried to remove him when he refused. He broke away and threw himself through a first-floor window in what one witness said was "a leap for life."

He was brought back, given a sedative and bundled into a car by the Soviets, who drove off.

Three hours before the plane's departure, members of the Soviet Embassy staff began to arrive at the airport. By plane time 40 of them were on hand. They kept a close watch on the newsmen.

Ten minutes before takeoff time, a car carrying Soviet Ambassador Alexi D. Shiborn and the Stryguines drew up. As Stryguine stepped out, a newsman called out:

"Colonel, have you anything to say to the press?"

Before he could say a word, a wedge of three Soviets rushed the reporter and threw him several feet. Guards shoved and pushed other newsmen aside and seized the cameras of two photographers.

Looking bewildered, Stryguine was almost lifted from the ground by two Soviets, who rushed him inside the customs room and locked the door. Shortly after he was escorted to the plane, his wife trailing behind.

Girl's Body Believed Clue To Fate Of Missing Family

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — The body of a little girl, found bobbing in a Columbia River slough, provided a probable solution today to the baffling mystery of the missing Ken Martin family of Portland.

The body, found Sunday and identified as that of 11-year-old Susan Martin, had been in the water for a considerable time, said Coroner Paul Mylan. It may have been submerged since the Dec. 7 disappearance of Ken Martin, 54, his wife, 48, and their three pretty young daughters — Barbara, 14, Virginia, 13, and Susan.

Police, who have run down scores of clues in the five-months-old case, believe the Martin car plunged off a highway into the Columbia River or one of its tributaries. The body of Susan apparently floated free of the wreckage in the spring current and was washed to a backwater slough near Camas, Wash., a few miles east of this lower Columbia River city.

Dr. E. A. Waterman, the Martin's dentist, examined the body and said he was certain it was that of the missing girl.

The body was clad in red and white striped pedal pushers and a blue quilted coat. Friends and relatives of the Martins said Susan was wearing similar pedal pushers the day the family vanished and that the coat belonged to Virginia.

The family, after telling friends they were on their way to the woods to get Christmas greens, happily climbed into their red and white station wagon Sunday morning Dec. 7, and drove east up the Oregon side of the Columbia River to Cascade Locks where Martin purchased a small amount of gasoline. Then they disappeared.

After ground and aerial searches of the heavily wooded gorge areas failed to turn up clues, police speculated that the Martin car plunged into the river. In one of the most unusual search operations ever undertaken in this area, the flow of the Columbia was halted by an upstream dam while skin divers and a sonar device were used to probe the slack river's bottom. This too was fruitless.

A sister, Miss Margaret Martin, a Seattle school teacher, said she was saddened but relieved to hear that Susan's body has been found. "Now, at least I have some idea as to what happened to the family," she said.

Wife Rescued By Husband In Dresden Fire

Flames Of Gasoline Block Escape Route; Victim Hospitalized

A Dresden Ave. housewife was hospitalized Sunday night with burns received in a flash fire after a heroic rescue by her husband, who dashed through flames to lead his wife to safety when her only escape had been cut off by fire.

It was one of two blazes firemen said was caused by using gasoline for cleaning.

Mrs. Bertha F. Reed, 26, of 1870 Dresden Ave. is in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with first and second degree burns of her arms, face and neck.

Mrs. Reed was cleaning paint brushes with gasoline last night and the fumes ignited, with the fire cutting off her only exit, an outside door.

Reed instructed his wife to remove a cellar window so he could pull her through, but then lost contact with her.

Two unidentified men attempted to enter the cellar, but were driven back by the flames, firemen said.

Disregarding his own safety, Reed dashed through the fire and found his wife at the opposite side of the basement and brought her back through the flames to the outside.

Firemen said the flash fire damaged the wiring and cold air runs in the home and the gas and electricity were shut off. The alarm was received at 8:05 p. m. from a neighbor, Mrs. Fred Wiegand, 1868 Dresden Ave.

Firemen today appealed for residents to be especially cautious in using gasoline, explaining paint brushes and other material should be cleaned outside the home.

They said gasoline fumes generally stay near the floor and then ignite in a flash fire when they come in contact with a flame or heat.

A flash fire, also blamed on gasoline fumes, damaged the home of Cornelius Peachey, 1638 Alpha St., at 4 p. m. yesterday.

Firemen said gasoline was being used to clean the floor and a gas-fired clothes dryer was operating at the same time. The gasoline fumes came in contact with the dryer flame and the resulting flash fire damaged the wiring, floor and laundry.

Firemen were called to extinguish a fire in an auto owned by A. C. Pinkerton, 311 3rd St., at 12:10 p. m. Sunday. A short circuit under the instrument panel was blamed. Firemen disconnected the battery.

Firemen were called to the Loblaw Market lot on Dresden Ave at 12:11 a. m. today when a 1951 station wagon operated by Wayne Hunter of Lisbon St. blew a piston.

Firemen said witnesses thought the car was on fire and notified the department.

Wet Weather May Reduce City Turnout

Showers Predicted Tuesday As Voters Await Primaries

Scattered showers may help reduce the turnout for East Liverpool's primary election Tuesday, which is not expected to exceed 5,000.

The Ohio weatherman dampened the outlook for the voting when he issued a forecast that calls for cloudy and warmer weather, with scattered thundershowers.

The voting here is part of off-year balloting that is expected to attract a generally light turnout in Columbiana County. The city has 10,598 qualified voters.

Polling places will open at 7:30 a. m. and close at 7:30 p. m., Daylight Saving Time.

It's far from a countywide election, with voting only in seven major communities and scattered rural areas.

Both Republicans and Democrats will hold primaries in East Liverpool, Wellsville, East Palestine, Salem and Salineville. Lisbon will have only a Republican primary, as Democrats have no contests.

Both Columbiana and Leetonia will skip the primaries under the Ohio "no contest" law—neither party has a race in the two communities. However, Leetonia will vote in a special election on a proposed 4-mill village operating levy.

Two levies totaling 12 mills will be voted on in the Lisbon Exempted Village School District. In addition to the village proper, it includes Center Township and the Elkton and Southwest Precincts of Elkrun Township.

Butler and Knox Townships will vote on a 3-mill operating levy in the Mahoning Local School District.

The East Liverpool, 43 candidates are seeking nomination to 12 municipal offices. The Republican slate lists 17 and the Democratic has 26.

The Election Board distributed supplies for northern county precincts Saturday morning at the Courthouse in Lisbon. Presiding judges are calling for supplies for East Liverpool precincts today at the board's office on W. 6th St. The distribution will end at 4. Supplies for Wellsville precincts will be distributed tonight at 6:45 at Wellsville City Hall.

Here's a list of East Liverpool polling places:

City Hall Will Close For Voting Tuesday

Following a long-standing custom, City Hall will be closed Tuesday because of the primary election, Safety-Service Director Joseph F. Ross said today.

A polling place is located in the main corridor of the municipal building. State law also will restrict sale of intoxicants. The State Liquor Store on Walnut St. will be closed all day. Taverns are not permitted to sell intoxicating beverages from 7 a. m., a half hour before the polls open, until 8:30 p. m., an hour after the voting is over.

Survey Released

Report Presents Needs Of State's Mental Hospitals

COLUMBUS (AP) — What's wrong with Ohio's mental hospitals?

In terms of an official report on the subject, there are so many areas needing improvement, it took 242 pages to tell the story.

The survey was made at the request of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and the results released today.

The 25 mental hospitals under the jurisdiction of the Division of Mental Hygiene were surveyed by a team of specialists. Heading the survey was Jay W. Collins, executive director of Euclid-Glenville Hospital and president of the Ohio Hospital Assn.

Here are some of the things the survey turned up:

Patient care:

In some hospitals patients "may be allowed to go about naked and soiled and be washed with a garden hose, whereas they are kept clothed and are treated with kindness at another. There is without doubt a direct ratio between the quality of care and degree of overcrowding."

Regarding bathing: "It is a common practice to have several patients undress and line up nude while others are bathed in tubs or showers. Practically all showers in the state are 'gang showers' with no partitions . . . . If patients are to rebuild their confidence and individuality and work toward normal life adjustments, it would seem that this ritual of being treated as cattle . . . would be a negative step in the rebuilding process."

The report recommends alterations to enhance privacy for patients where possible.

DiSalle Asks Collins To Head Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asked Jay W. Collins to head a master plan committee for improvement of Ohio mental hospitals today.

Collins directed a mental health survey that resulted in master plan recommendations. The survey report was released today.

Senate Chiefs Press Action On Ohio SUB

Legislation Will Be First Business At Assembly Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Senate leaders called for action today on a House-approved bill to release about 25 million dollars in stockpiled Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) immediately.

The measure, passed by the House last Monday, is the first order of business for senators returning from weekend adjournment for the Legislature's 18th week.

Enactment would permit eligible workers in the steel, rubber, automotive and other major industries to draw back SUB payments before June 19. That is the effective date of a new law permitting payment of SUB and state jobless benefits at the same time.

Until the new law goes into effect, statute requires deduction of SUB payments from state benefits received by jobless workers. The law was changed by the Democrat-controlled Legislature after the Ohio Supreme Court upheld the current statute.

Opponents of simultaneous SUB and state benefits said a provision in the emergency measure up for a vote in the Senate would cost the state about $400,000. Fred J. Milligan, executive secretary of the Ohio Information Committee, composed mainly of employers opposed to SUB, gave this explanation of that claim:

Employers have made $400,000 in SUB payments to about 5,000 workers who also received state unemployment compensation. The state is required to recover that amount from workers who received state jobless benefits without deduction of an amount equal to the SUB payments they received. But a provision in the pending bill would prevent such recovery.

The state already has recovered some money from workers who drew both types of jobless benefits.

New Test Due School Action At Little Rock

Three-Judge Panel Hears Suit Which Questions Legality

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A last-ditch defense state law used to close Little Rock's four public high schools against integration faced a legal challenge in U. S. District Court here today.

A three-judge panel will hear the suit testing the constitutionality of Act 4 of 1958. Attorneys for the National Assn. For The Advancement of Colored people contend it is an evasive scheme to block court-ordered integration.

Another state law, which permitted the transfer of public funds from closed schools to schools which admitted displaced pupils, also is being challenged.

The school-closing law was upheld last week by the Arkansas Supreme Court in a 4-3 decision. Attorneys for the state argued the law merely extended the police powers of Gov. Orval E. Faubus and was invoked to prevent violence he felt would come with integration.

Today's hearing is an extention of the original Little Rock school integration suit, filed by the NAACP in 1956. It challenged as too slow the Little Rock board's voluntary plan for gradual integration.

The plan was upheld by U.S. District Court and the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. It called for integration of grades 10-12 in 1957 and gradual integration of other grades.

Faubus surrounded Central High School with National Guard troops in September 1957, to prevent the entrance of nine Negroes. He claimed the action was necessary to prevent violence.

After the courts ordered the troops pulled out, violence flared. President Eisenhower sent in federal troops to restore order and supervise attendance of the Negroes in the 1957-58 school year.

Notice members Local 9, polls for general election of IBOP officers will be open from 12-6 p. m. Tues. May 5. All members urged to vote. By order of Pres. — Ad.

Hot Strip Mill Slated For Installation With Related Innovations

A multi-million dollar expansion project for the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. was announced today by Joel Hunter, president.

Hunter said plans are underway to install a new multiple stand continuous hot strip mill which, with other related improvements, is expected to cost some $23 million. No indication was given when construction will begin.

"The purpose of the program is to produce substantial economies in the production of flat rolled products, especially stainless steels, to improve quality and to provide capacity needed for further expansion of the company's flat rolled products," Hunter said.

This will be the second large project at Midland within the last two years. A new hot strip mill to handle round products was placed into operation a little over a year ago. The mill also boasts a modern cold strip mill.

In making the formal announcement, Hunter also outlined a porposed financing plan to cover the cost of the purchase and installation of the new equipment.

He said Crucible today filed a registration statement covering a proposed offering to stockholders of the right to subscribe for 99,885 shares of authorized but unissued convertible preferred stock.

"Subject to the registration statement becoming effective, stockholders will be entitled to pur-

Water Famine Closes School

Westgate's Classes To Resume Tuesday

A break in a 6-inch water main on W. 8th St. near Division St., which closed Westgate School today and left some 50 West End homes without water over the weekend, was expected to be repaired by early afternoon.

Supt. Frank K. Robinson estimated water service would be restored at noon "barring unforseen circumstances."

Some 1,800 pupils at the big elementary and junior high school received an unexpected holiday when authorities closed the school because of the lack of water. Classes are scheduled to resume Tuesday morning.

The break was discovered early Saturday morning, but a crew worked all day Saturday and until dark Sunday before locating a 2-foot split in the line, Robinson said. Robinson said a new piece of pipe and a sleeve were to be installed to complete repairs.

The crew drilled several holes along the medial strip on W. 8th St. near Division St. and also excavated one hole without locating the break. Finally finding the split, workmen dug a trench 15 feet long and 6 feet deep through 6 to 8 inches of reinforced concrete to reach the break, Robinson said.

The water was left on Saturday with a few homes receiving "only a trickle," the superintendent said. The supply was turned off yesterday morning, leaving the homes and school without water.

The main parallels the medial strip on the four-lane highway and the excavation was made in the inside westbound lane, Robinson said.

Wet Weather May Reduce City Turnout

Showers Predicted Tuesday As Voters Await Primaries

Scattered showers may help reduce the turnout for East Liverpool's primary election Tuesday, which is not expected to exceed 5,000.

The Ohio weatherman dampened the outlook for the voting when he issued a forecast that calls for cloudy and warmer weather, with scattered thundershowers.

City Hall Will Close For Voting Tuesday

Following a long-standing custom, City Hall will be closed Tuesday because of the primary election, Safety-Service Director Joseph F. Ross said today.

A polling place is located in the main corridor of the municipal building. State law also will restrict sale of intoxicants. The State Liquor Store on Walnut St. will be closed all day. Taverns are not permitted to sell intoxicating beverages from 7 a. m., a half hour before the polls open, until 8:30 p. m., an hour after the voting is over.

The voting here is part of off-year balloting that is expected to attract a generally light turnout in Columbiana County. The city has 10,598 qualified voters.

Polling places will open at 7:30 a. m. and close at 7:30 p. m., Daylight Saving Time.

It's far from a countywide election, with voting only in seven major communities and scattered rural areas.

Both Republicans and Democrats will hold primaries in East Liverpool, Wellsville, East Palestine, Salem and Salineville. Lisbon will have only a Republican primary, as Democrats have no contests.

Both Columbiana and Leetonia will skip the primaries under the Ohio "no contest" law—neither party has a race in the two communities. However, Leetonia will vote in a special election on a proposed 4-mill village operating levy.

Two levies totaling 12 mills will be voted on in the Lisbon Exempted Village School District. In addition to the village proper, it includes Center Township and the Elkton and Southwest Precincts of Elkrun Township.

Butler and Knox Townships will vote on a 3-mill operating levy in the Mahoning Local School District.

The East Liverpool, 43 candidates are seeking nomination to 12 municipal offices. The Republican slate lists 17 and the Democratic has 26.

The Election Board distributed supplies for northern county precincts Saturday morning at the Courthouse in Lisbon. Presiding judges are calling for supplies for East Liverpool precincts today at the board's office on W. 6th St. The distribution will end at 4. Supplies for Wellsville precincts will be distributed tonight at 6:45 at Wellsville City Hall.

Here's a list of East Liverpool polling places:

Report Presents Needs Of State's Mental Hospitals

COLUMBUS (AP) — What's wrong with Ohio's mental hospitals?

In terms of an official report on the subject, there are so many areas needing improvement, it took 242 pages to tell the story.

The survey was made at the request of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and the results released today.

The 25 mental hospitals under the jurisdiction of the Division of Mental Hygiene were surveyed by a team of specialists. Heading the survey was Jay W. Collins, executive director of Euclid-Glenville Hospital and president of the Ohio Hospital Assn.

Here are some of the things the survey turned up:

Patient care:

In some hospitals patients "may be allowed to go about naked and soiled and be washed with a garden hose, whereas they are kept clothed and are treated with kindness at another. There is without doubt a direct ratio between the quality of care and degree of overcrowding."

Regarding bathing: "It is a common practice to have several patients undress and line up nude while others are bathed in tubs or showers. Practically all showers in the state are 'gang showers' with no partitions . . . . If patients are to rebuild their confidence and individuality and work toward normal life adjustments, it would seem that this ritual of being treated as cattle . . . would be a negative step in the rebuilding process."

The report recommends alterations to enhance privacy for patients where possible.

DiSalle Asks Collins To Head Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asked Jay W. Collins to head a master plan committee for improvement of Ohio mental hospitals today.

Collins directed a mental health survey that resulted in master plan recommendations. The survey report was released today.

Senate Chiefs Press Action On Ohio SUB

Legislation Will Be First Business At Assembly Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Senate leaders called for action today on a House-approved bill to release about 25 million dollars in stockpiled Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) immediately.

The measure, passed by the House last Monday, is the first order of business for senators returning from weekend adjournment for the Legislature's 18th week.

Enactment would permit eligible workers in the steel, rubber, automotive and other major industries to draw back SUB payments before June 19. That is the effective date of a new law permitting payment of SUB and state jobless benefits at the same time.

Until the new law goes into effect, statute requires deduction of SUB payments from state benefits received by jobless workers. The law was changed by the Democrat-controlled Legislature after the Ohio Supreme Court upheld the current statute.

Opponents of simultaneous SUB and state benefits said a provision in the emergency measure up for a vote in the Senate would cost the state about $400,000. Fred J. Milligan, executive secretary of the Ohio Information Committee, composed mainly of employers opposed to SUB, gave this explanation of that claim:

Employers have made $400,000 in SUB payments to about 5,000 workers who also received state unemployment compensation. The state is required to recover that amount from workers who received state jobless benefits without deduction of an amount equal to the SUB payments they received. But a provision in the pending bill would prevent such recovery.

The state already has recovered some money from workers who drew both types of jobless benefits.

New Test Due School Action At Little Rock

Three-Judge Panel Hears Suit Which Questions Legality

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A last-ditch defense state law used to close Little Rock's four public high schools against integration faced a legal challenge in U. S. District Court here today.

A three-judge panel will hear the suit testing the constitutionality of Act 4 of 1958. Attorneys for the National Assn. For The Advancement of Colored people contend it is an evasive scheme to block court-ordered integration.

Another state law, which permitted the transfer of public funds from closed schools to schools which admitted displaced pupils, also is being challenged.

The school-closing law was upheld last week by the Arkansas Supreme Court in a 4-3 decision. Attorneys for the state argued the law merely extended the police powers of Gov. Orval E. Faubus and was invoked to prevent violence he felt would come with integration.

Today's hearing is an extention of the original Little Rock school integration suit, filed by the NAACP in 1956. It challenged as too slow the Little Rock board's voluntary plan for gradual integration.

The plan was upheld by U.S. District Court and the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. It called for integration of grades 10-12 in 1957 and gradual integration of other grades.

Faubus surrounded Central High School with National Guard troops in September 1957, to prevent the entrance of nine Negroes. He claimed the action was necessary to prevent violence.

After the courts ordered the troops pulled out, violence flared. President Eisenhower sent in federal troops to restore order and supervise attendance of the Negroes in the 1957-58 school year.

Notice members Local 9, polls for general election of IBOP officers will be open from 12-6 p. m. Tues. May 5. All members urged to vote. By order of Pres. — Ad.

Hot Strip Mill Slated For Installation With Related Innovations

A multi-million dollar expansion project for the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. was announced today by Joel Hunter, president.

Hunter said plans are underway to install a new multiple stand continuous hot strip mill which, with other related improvements, is expected to cost some $23 million. No indication was given when construction will begin.

"The purpose of the program is to produce substantial economies in the production of flat rolled products, especially stainless steels, to improve quality and to provide capacity needed for further expansion of the company's flat rolled products," Hunter said.

This will be the second large project at Midland within the last two years. A new hot strip mill to handle round products was placed into operation a little over a year ago. The mill also boasts a modern cold strip mill.

In making the formal announcement, Hunter also outlined a porposed financing plan to cover the cost of the purchase and installation of the new equipment.

He said Crucible today filed a registration statement covering a proposed offering to stockholders of the right to subscribe for 99,885 shares of authorized but unissued convertible preferred stock.

"Subject to the registration statement becoming effective, stockholders will be entitled to pur-

Water Famine Closes School

Westgate's Classes To Resume Tuesday

A break in a 6-inch water main on W. 8th St. near Division St., which closed Westgate School today and left some 50 West End homes without water over the weekend, was expected to be repaired by early afternoon.

Supt. Frank K. Robinson estimated water service would be restored at noon "barring unforseen circumstances."

Some 1,800 pupils at the big elementary and junior high school received an unexpected holiday when authorities closed the school because of the lack of water. Classes are scheduled to resume Tuesday morning.

The break was discovered early Saturday morning, but a crew worked all day Saturday and until dark Sunday before locating a 2-foot split in the line, Robinson said. Robinson said a new piece of pipe and a sleeve were to be installed to complete repairs.

The crew drilled several holes along the medial strip on W. 8th St. near Division St. and also excavated one hole without locating the break. Finally finding the split, workmen dug a trench 15 feet long and 6 feet deep through 6 to 8 inches of reinforced concrete to reach the break, Robinson said.

The water was left on Saturday with a few homes receiving "only a trickle," the superintendent said. The supply was turned off yesterday morning, leaving the homes and school without water.

The main parallels the medial strip on the four-lane highway and the excavation was made in the inside westbound lane, Robinson said.

Are You Going To Vote?

Political observers expect only about 5,000 votes to be cast in Tuesday's primary here. More than 10,000 are eligible to go to the polls.

Thus, if the observers are correct, only half the electorate will take advantage of a cherished right.

The lack of interest is not confined to East Liverpool. Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, in calling attention to the importance of voting, reports from Columbus that the number of persons asking for absent and disabled voter ballots indicated that interest is somewhat lacking in most counties.

He had this comment: "In the first place, primary elections are important because it is in these elections that competent party candidates are selected. And in the second place, the municipal races in cities and villages in more than 50 counties are important because they involve the very fundamental foundation of government — local government."

It always has been puzzling that so many people can find so much time to complain about this and that in municipal affairs, but yet can't find time to take the few minutes it requires to mark the average ballot.

It would be most encouraging if the political observers could be made to look foolish by a far heavier turnout than 5,000 on Tuesday. We're certain they wouldn't mind a bit.

Are you going to the polls?

Only In The Proper Place

Another appeal is made today by a youthful reader for a strip where "hot rodders" could drag-race their cars without endangering their own lives and the lives of others.

At the risk of being a square, to our way of thinking drag-racing doesn't make sense. But if it's something that today's youth feels it must have as a means of enjoying their cars and releasing pent-up energy, then a properly-supervised strip seems the logical answer.

Today's letter, however, carries an undertone which is most disturbing.

The impression was left that until such a strip is provided drag-racing will continue on the district's highways. The writer expresses only his own views, naturally, but there is the uneasy feeling that he could be echoing the sentiments of too many other young drivers.

Should such an attitude prevail, it would be most tragic indeed.

District traffic accident reports over the last few years tell the grim story of drag-racing.

For what it's worth, we offer the young drivers this advice: Campaign for your drag strip in whatever legitimate way you see fit, but until one becomes available forget the crazy antics that have made our highways increasingly dangerous.

Only grief and misfortune can result from thumbing your nose at traffic laws.

A Little Is Good; A Lot Is Better

The National Association of Broadcasters has laid down industry-wide strategy for overcoming criticism.

The gist of the criticism, which is too widespread to be brushed aside as captious, is that television programming tends to be graded down to the lowest common denominator in the scramble for ratings.

The idea is to please the bread-and-butter audience — an idea that has plagued the entertainment industry since the first court-jester learned that it paid to make jokes that were funny to the king, whether they were funny to anyone else or not.

The ultimate effect of this expediency, unfortunately, is to alienate the enthusiasm of all who do not share the king's sense of humor. But as long as those alienated are silent, no one worries about them.

They are never missed until they turn noisy, or until they turn to something else. The movies missed them when they failed to show up at the boxoffice. Television didn't give them too much thought until they turned to Congress.

That was serious, because television is federally licensed. Hence, the nine-member committee, to head off talk of government regulation. Criticism, if it grows loud enough, could tempt the politicians to nib in with their customary passion for saving the American people.

Actually, there's nothing wrong with television that couldn't be corrected with more vision. It is being tempted by the fallacy that if a little is good, a lot would be better.

It is overdoing what is good, until it gets a bad result. It forgets that its public includes everybody — not just the majority. It forgets that it needs everybody; that everybody needs it, too, if it does not drive away too many small groups in hot pursuit of the common denominator.

Be Kind To Animals

Our friends in the Humane Society will be asking attention the next few days for their tireless efforts to apply the Golden Rule to animals. Thanks to them—and to whatever slight progress civilization has made—things are better than they used to be.

Wanton brutality to animals has been on the defensive a long time. Much of it disappeared when the horse yielded to automobiles and was taken out of the hands of people who could not be trusted with responsibility for its proper care.

There still are human beings who beat, torture and kill animals because they are victims of their own inhumane instincts, but they have become a minority under disapproving scrutiny. And there still are human beings who thoughtlessly do inhumane things —children, for example, who have not been schooled by their elders in their obligation to respect life.

At one time, the Humane Society's efforts to increase the extent of their respect were regarded as often as not as misguided—as not quite realistic. That has changed. They are regarded today with broad gratitude—as an important part of man's total effort to upgrade himself on the scale of civilization.

Will Had The Answer

By Frank Tripp

We never return to Glenora in the spring that I do not spend days communing in fond memory with Will Gardner—who lived so much, because he coveted so little.

Will has been gone eight years now but whatever way I look my mind sees him creating with his hands and heart the comfort, utility and beauty that has been enjoyed by three generations of summer dwellers. At one of Seneca's historic steamer stops, when the lakes and canals were the area's major routes of transportation.

From boyhood I can remember the dying water-borne days, before the automobile; when the railroads were completing the kill; as the auto, truck and airplane now threaten the railroads. To me, it is history repeating within my lifetime, and it makes me sad; in reminiscence of romantic, peaceful times, and unselfish, contented people. Will was the last breathing symbol of that golden era to step out of my life.

IN SPITE of all that evolution has brought about, few who had contact with those days will wholeheartedly buy the slogan that progress is our most important product. In the convenience it has created, yes; in its impact upon the heart and soul of man, emphatically no.

To cite the change in people is, I know, the most odious of comparisons; unwelcome and offensive to those who never knew the difference. This is understandable. Yet I believe that our youth might better be taught, right in our schools and colleges, the wholesome human phase of their background, rather than preponderantly dwelling upon material progress.

The old machines are obsolete and funny. The ideals and objectives of the self-reliant God-fearing men who used them were the foundation of America; deserted by their offspring, though neither obsolete nor funny.

The man whose life rouses these thoughts built canal boats, wooden churns, sewed harnesses and trapped for food. He lived to help build railroad trestles, own automobiles and trucks and see airplanes fly over his lakeside home.

HE BECAME adept in the building and maintenance of modern structures and machines, as one-by-one they appeared over the 85 years he lived. He was the best all around mechanic I ever knew, and adaptable to progress.

But he never deserted the end, the principles that modern America has outmoded along with the horse and buggy.

He gave a bonus of service and production to all who hired him, he lived within his current earnings. He was proud, independent and solvent; his wealth was in friends, respect and contentment.

The highest wage he ever earned was 75 cents an hour; that late in his life when those who hired him became ashamed to pay him 50 cents. Through his most productive years he averaged 35 cents.

He never had a pension not a dollar from the public till, not a penny that his hands didn't earn. His final assets provided a modest sum for his church. He wouldn't touch a cent of a sum his wife inherited, which inflation devoured in her final sickness after he had died.

In just plain old-fashioned words, Will Gardner lived always within his means, never contracted a debt and died my "richest man I know." His formula would cure the ills of America.

Open Door To The World

Herter's First Significant Victory

By Jay G. Hayden

Christian A. Herter scored in absentia his first significant triumph as secretary of state when the organization of American states, 21 nations strong, unanimously assumed the job of saving Panama from an armed attack.

Among those voting for this action was the representative of Cuba, from whose soil the invasion was launched. There had been deep suspicion that the new Cuban revolutionary regime had fomented the Panama enterprise, based on Fidel Castro's recently expressed sympathy with Panama's pretensions to possession of the Panama Canal, accompanied by his statement that the Organization of American States (OAS) as presently constituted was no good.

The Republic of Panama has been of great concern to the U.S. government ever since it was formed by secession from the Republic of Colombia in 1903, under protection of U.S. warships.

As reported in newspaper accounts, Panama's total armed forces, including police, available for resistance to the present invasion, number no more than 3,000. In contrast the U.S. has in and around the Canal Zone, in mid - Panama, enough land, sea and air forces to wipe out all the forces that could be collected from the whole of Central America.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED last Monday that the American government was supplying Panama with small arms to resist the invaders. Actually, those arms were transferred from abundant stocks normally maintained by U.S. forces in the Canal Zone.

It was greatly important, however, that the United States should be absolved of anything smacking of armed aggression in the Americas and even more, just at this time, that there should be no appearance of friction between the U.S. and Cuba.

The OAS solved both of those problems by making government continuity and stability in Panama its collective business.

By a resolution, formally reported to the United Nations, the OAS declared its intention:

1. To squelch this or any similar plot against Panama.
2. To "look favorably" on any Panamanian requests to buy arms for legitimate self-defense.
3. To dispatch a five-member team of investigators to the trouble area, equipped with surface scouts and observation aircraft, to determine the facts respecting the reported invasion.

This was an important step forward in intra-American relations in that it involved no seriously regarded charge that the move into Panama was inspired by Communists had fomented the invasion.

AGAIN AND AGAIN over the past 10 years there have been symptoms of upheaval in Panama.

During one week in 1949 the Panamanian government was seized twice, due to the discharge by the then president, Daniel F. Chanis of the national chief of police, Col. Jose Antonio Remon. Chanis had accused Remon and two other police officers of running illegal monopolies in the beef slaughtering and commercial bus businesses.

President Chanis survived that fracas. But, after attaining the presidency six years later, the same Remon was shot to death by an unidentified machine-gunner at Panama City race track (Jan. 2, 1955). Vice President and Foreign Minister Ramon Guizado, after being installed as president in succession to Remon, was convicted and imprisoned for conspiracy to murder his predecessor.

But in December, 1957, Guizado was freed on a motion of the Panama government, after the confession of the chief witness against him that his testimony was false.

All of which indicates that politics in Panama is hectic.

All That Red Meat

By Truman Twill

I feel sorry for the coaches but happy for the boys, now that two Harvard nutritionists have exploded the myth that an athlete is no better than the food he eats.

The nutritionists only have blurted out what everybody else has known for years, including coaches. All that malarky about red meat, milk, poached eggs and tea before Armageddon and no carbonated beverages was pulled out of an empty locker. It doesn't matter what the boys eat as far as their physical ability is concerned.

But the coaches, on the other hand, have known something, too. They haven't harped and harangued about diet, early retiring and wholesome habits because it made any difference to the physical well-being of their charges.

The idea has been to make the boys feel drawn together by a sense of shared sacrifice. It was the same psychology the Big Authorities foisted on us little people in the Great War when they made us cut off the cuffs of our pants and smoke dried goodness-knows-what.

They figured it was good for us to suffer a little. It would make us have that feeling of Togetherness. We would think we were doing something to win the war.

I used to wonder about this sort of thing when I was a huddled bench warmer on the sidelines. There I'd be, stomach growling and head swimming from hunger during a long afternoon. I had eaten nothing but toast and tea.

"Coach had said . . ." I wonder now if he ever said it.

He was a great toast and tea man. No one in his right mind should eat pork and dumplings before a football game, but this fellow wouldn't even make room for beefsteak.

I shouldn't be surprised if the depletion of the athletic fund had more to do with it than nutritional theory. Anyway, there I'd sit — hungry, miserable and dying for a drag on a cigarette or a pull on a bottle of pop.

It couldn't possibly have made any difference nutritionally or athletically if I had brought a picnic basket and gorged the contents. I was on the bench only to conceal the shortage of troops from the deadly enemy across the way. For all he knew, unless his counterintelligence had been extra alert, all of us were bona fide football players, instead of guys who were willing to get knocked about in scrimmage in return for free admittance to the games.

Take me, for instance . . . the scrawny one with his helmet pulled down over his eyes. Looks a powerful lot like one of those scatback runners . . . rabbity, put together with strings and springs. Cool, too, not a sign of tension. They'll probably hold him back until they're in scoring position.

But that wasn't the real me. The real me looked and acted that way because hunger had set in before halftime. The only thing on the place to eat was a dirty sponge and part of a pack of Juicy Fruit gum, which was not my brand. I figured with the helmet pulled down, I wouldn't see all that blood and raw meat out thar on that gridiron, grrr.

It was torture. And there was no point to it.

I'm glad the Harvard nutritional experts have told the truth about it.

Canberra Booms

Canberra, the made-to-order capital of Australia, got off to a slow start. Now it's enjoying a dramatic boom in population and building.

The population has nearly tripled in a decade to the present peak of 40,000. Houses are sprouting like mushrooms to catch up with demand. The new National Captial Development Commission is expected to relieve Canberra of its old byname: "Seven Scattered Suburbs in Search of a City."

Widespread Australian skepticism of the "white-elephant" capital has turned to pride. Like Washington, D. C., it has become a national mecca—a place to be visited at least once in a lifetime. Each year some 300,000 Australian tourists come to their federal city which lies in a broad, green valley 70 miles inland from the southeast coast.

Under a five-year plan, a National Center for archives will be raised on the long-empty crest of Capital Hill. A new parliament building and other civic structures are planned. The Molonglo River will be dammed to create a chain of placid lakes in the heart of town.

Canberra's surging growth justifies the dream of the late Walter Burley Griffin, a Chicago landscape architect.

It was he who designed the city in worldwide competition after Australia's young federation of states agreed in 1909 on the location for a seat of government.

The site, a tract of sheep-grazing country in the foothills of the Australian Alps, was included in the Australian Capital Territory given by New South Wales. Construction began in 1913.

In the Minnesota iron ore range, apple trees grow 2,500 feet down in underground mines. Seeds apparently were tossed aside by apple-eating miners.

Letter To The Editor

I am a teen-age youth of 15 and am very interested in cars, as are most teen-agers.

I think that if the city of East Liverpool would sponsor a drag strip the boys would not be dragging in the streets and on the public highways. That way it would make safer streets and highways and still the boys would have a safe place to drag.

If a few older men would take an interest and sponsor it I believe it would make a safer and better East Liverpool. Boys always will drag race their "rods" and that will never be stopped. So if we could get some place to have for drag races it would solve the problem. I do not have a car, but I know how other boys feel who do have cars.

So come on, let's help make the highways and streets safe and still give the boys a place to drag.

All-Out War Unlikely

By James Marlow

Different Communist Approach Expected

WASHINGTON

What is the liklihood of war with the Communist world any time soon? And where, since communism is dedicated to conquering the earth, will the Soviets and Red Chinese do their pushing?

The State Department has provided careful answers to both questions. It doesn't rule out some shooting on a limited scale, if the Communists think it worth the price and the danger.

But the department says: for the foreseeable future it is likely the Soviets and Red Chinese will avoid all-out war and try to push their programs by political, economia and psychological means.

The State Department gave written answers to a series of questions from the Senate's Disarmament subcommittee.

Although the department is optimistic about avoiding a world war, it said enough to show it expects this country to have its hands full trying to cope with the Red bloc for years to come.

One thing the department made clear: it is satisfied that Premier Nikita Khrushchev, having eliminated his rivals, is undisputed boss of the Soviet Union and that therefore the political situation there should be stable for years.

It is ironic that just a few days before the May 11 meeting at Geneva—between the Western and Soviet foreign ministers to talk about troubles in Europe—the department should be anticipating no end of trouble from the Communist bloc around the world.

This is the picture. So long as the West remains as well armed as the Soviets — and therefore could make all-out war unendurable — there isn't likely to be a general war.

But the Soviets' main thrust will probably continue to be in the under-developed countries, with main emphasis on the Middle East, where anti-Western feeling and native Communist help gives the Soviets hope for takeover.

Latin America and particularly the newly emerging countries of Africa will probably become increasingly important targets of Moscow's political-economic offensive.

The department added: "In Europe the basic Soviet objective is consolidation of Moscow's control in Eastern Europe and reduction of Western military strength, particularly that of the United States.

"Soviet policies there for the foreseeable future will thus be aimed at tightening Moscow's grip on what it has and depriving the west of its advantage there rather than at direct Soviet expansion, although they will also seek to force the West from its position in Berlin."

As for the Red Chinese: For the immediate future the most likely form of Chinese Communist expansion is continued effort to increase political and economic influence, especially in Southeast Asia, through trade offensives, subversion and political pressure.

The department seems less hopeful that the Red Chinese will refrain from shooting.

It said: "An attack could of course take place anywhere along the perimeter of Communist-controlled territory in Asia."

The GOP In 1960

By Raymond Moley

The Republican National Committee, meeting in January in Des Moines, did plenty of breast-beating, which was probably wholesome. A few "mea culpas" are good for any sorely afflicted soul.

Democrats over the nation have been assuming that about their only problem now is to select the next president from an assortment of aspirants. They believe that the AFL-CIO COPE will get out the necessary votes for them.

This is the sort of situation, however, which realistic students of politics always find excellent material for a bit of devastating analysis. In political life, as in sports, when excessive depression confronts excessive confidence, the wise ones anticipate an upset. A bit of analysis presents a far different prospect than is anticipated by most people.

There are four means which are commonly used to anticipate future events in politics: historical precedent, statistics, polls, and a logical appraisal of obvious facts. The latter is paramount.

MY CONCLUSION, after a lot of history reading, is the conviction that in a matter like this history is as likely to reverse itself as to repeat. For the facts are never the same.

Statistics are tricky when used to evaluate a market or a political situation. They are useful to an observer who is able to take a lot of nonstatistical facts into account.

They are a crutch but a poor substitute for a head and legs. However, the Congressional Quarterly, in a fine, exhaustic survey of the 1958 election statistics, has demonstrated that a Republican can be elected president in 1960 even if the congressional results in that year are as heavily Democratic as they were last year.

Polls are even more tricky than statistics. Among the pollees, unfortunately, there are so many prevaricators, wobblers and dumb ones that when all is assessed, the margin of guesswork is tremendous.

So let us fall back on logic, common sense and a few facts available to all.

THE AVERAGE American voter approaches his decision in selecting a president in a mood quite different from that in voting for a congressman, a state legislator, or a councilman, because he generally knows those candidates personally. They are neighbors and his evaluation of their personalities weighs heavily. Ideology is not much of a consideration. "Nice guys" have a big advantage.

But something of the solemnity of the choice of a president known only as a distant figure weighs heavily upon the voter. The job is so big that there is vastly more interest in the choice.

Half again as many people take the trouble to vote for a president as in local elections.

The larger turn-out means that a vast new segment of the voting population is activated. And I have the firm conviction that this segment, sad as it may be, encompasses a considerable part of the otherwise good people who have saved and worked and believe in tradition and the verities of life.

The election of 1958 was an organized victory in which the AFL-CIO COPE skillfully concentrated its limited power and resources on the marginal spots. It has neither the means nor the capacity to And in the elections of 1948, 1952, and 1956 it was only indifferently interested in the presidency. What it wanted was to influence legislation.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS provides a tremendous emotional factor in the determination of voters' choices, for the dread apparition of the threat of war moves us all.

Voters are going to contrast the troubled but peaceful years under Messrs. Eisenhower and Dulles with the years 1945-53 when Communism was permitted to overrun half the world.

With a candidate like Vice President Nixon, who is able cogently to portray our foreign problems and who can commend himself as most experienced in high affairs, voters of both parties will respond favorably as against any Democrat who claims that there is a certain indefinable something better than keeping the peace.

Whatever may be the external picture, the thoughful ones in the party are not happy at the offerings in their supermarket of candidates. Some are green and some are overripe. There are health hazards among them—a problem with which Republicans will probably have no concern this time. Certainly there are no Roosevelts among the aspirants—none whose name is a household word. Come are not even nationally known.

These are considerations which should warn anyone to wager nothing on a Democratic president in 1961. But, of course, time and chance may alter this array of facts. The future is still ahead.

The old machines are obsolete and funny. The ideals and objectives of the self-reliant God-fearing men who used them were the foundation of America; deserted by their offspring, though neither obsolete nor funny.

The man whose life rouses these thoughts built canal boats, wooden churns, sewed harnesses and trapped for food. He lived to help build railroad trestles, own automobiles and trucks and see airplanes fly over his lakeside home.

HE BECAME adept in the building and maintenance of modern structures and machines, as one-by-one they appeared over the 85 years he lived. He was the best all around mechanic I ever knew, and adaptable to progress.

But he never deserted the end, the principles that modern America has outmoded along with the horse and buggy.

He gave a bonus of service and production to all who hired him, he lived within his current earnings. He was proud, independent and solvent; his wealth was in friends, respect and contentment.

The highest wage he ever earned was 75 cents an hour; that late in his life when those who hired him became ashamed to pay him 50 cents. Through his most productive years he averaged 35 cents.

He never had a pension not a dollar from the public till, not a penny that his hands didn't earn. His final assets provided a modest sum for his church. He wouldn't touch a cent of a sum his wife inherited, which inflation devoured in her final sickness after he had died.

In just plain old-fashioned words, Will Gardner lived always within his means, never contracted a debt and died my "richest man I know." His formula would cure the ills of America.

Herter's First Significant Victory

By Jay G. Hayden

Christian A. Herter scored in absentia his first significant triumph as secretary of state when the organization of American states, 21 nations strong, unanimously assumed the job of saving Panama from an armed attack.

Among those voting for this action was the representative of Cuba, from whose soil the invasion was launched. There had been deep suspicion that the new Cuban revolutionary regime had fomented the Panama enterprise, based on Fidel Castro's recently expressed sympathy with Panama's pretensions to possession of the Panama Canal, accompanied by his statement that the Organization of American States (OAS) as presently constituted was no good.

The Republic of Panama has been of great concern to the U.S. government ever since it was formed by secession from the Republic of Colombia in 1903, under protection of U.S. warships.

As reported in newspaper accounts, Panama's total armed forces, including police, available for resistance to the present invasion, number no more than 3,000. In contrast the U.S. has in and around the Canal Zone, in mid - Panama, enough land, sea and air forces to wipe out all the forces that could be collected from the whole of Central America.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED last Monday that the American government was supplying Panama with small arms to resist the invaders. Actually, those arms were transferred from abundant stocks normally maintained by U.S. forces in the Canal Zone.

It was greatly important, however, that the United States should be absolved of anything smacking of armed aggression in the Americas and even more, just at this time, that there should be no appearance of friction between the U.S. and Cuba.

The OAS solved both of those problems by making government continuity and stability in Panama its collective business.

By a resolution, formally reported to the United Nations, the OAS declared its intention:

1. To squelch this or any similar plot against Panama.
2. To "look favorably" on any Panamanian requests to buy arms for legitimate self-defense.
3. To dispatch a five-member team of investigators to the trouble area, equipped with surface scouts and observation aircraft, to determine the facts respecting the reported invasion.

This was an important step forward in intra-American relations in that it involved no seriously regarded charge that the move into Panama was inspired by Communists had fomented the invasion.

AGAIN AND AGAIN over the past 10 years there have been symptoms of upheaval in Panama.

During one week in 1949 the Panamanian government was seized twice, due to the discharge by the then president, Daniel F. Chanis of the national chief of police, Col. Jose Antonio Remon. Chanis had accused Remon and two other police officers of running illegal monopolies in the beef slaughtering and commercial bus businesses.

President Chanis survived that fracas. But, after attaining the presidency six years later, the same Remon was shot to death by an unidentified machine-gunner at Panama City race track (Jan. 2, 1955). Vice President and Foreign Minister Ramon Guizado, after being installed as president in succession to Remon, was convicted and imprisoned for conspiracy to murder his predecessor.

But in December, 1957, Guizado was freed on a motion of the Panama government, after the confession of the chief witness against him that his testimony was false.

All of which indicates that politics in Panama is hectic.

All That Red Meat

By Truman Twill

I feel sorry for the coaches but happy for the boys, now that two Harvard nutritionists have exploded the myth that an athlete is no better than the food he eats.

The nutritionists only have blurted out what everybody else has known for years, including coaches. All that malarky about red meat, milk, poached eggs and tea before Armageddon and no carbonated beverages was pulled out of an empty locker. It doesn't matter what the boys eat as far as their physical ability is concerned.

But the coaches, on the other hand, have known something, too. They haven't harped and harangued about diet, early retiring and wholesome habits because it made any difference to the physical well-being of their charges.

The idea has been to make the boys feel drawn together by a sense of shared sacrifice. It was the same psychology the Big Authorities foisted on us little people in the Great War when they made us cut off the cuffs of our pants and smoke dried goodness-knows-what.

They figured it was good for us to suffer a little. It would make us have that feeling of Togetherness. We would think we were doing something to win the war.

I used to wonder about this sort of thing when I was a huddled bench warmer on the sidelines. There I'd be, stomach growling and head swimming from hunger during a long afternoon. I had eaten nothing but toast and tea.

"Coach had said . . ." I wonder now if he ever said it.

He was a great toast and tea man. No one in his right mind should eat pork and dumplings before a football game, but this fellow wouldn't even make room for beefsteak.

I shouldn't be surprised if the depletion of the athletic fund had more to do with it than nutritional theory. Anyway, there I'd sit — hungry, miserable and dying for a drag on a cigarette or a pull on a bottle of pop.

It couldn't possibly have made any difference nutritionally or athletically if I had brought a picnic basket and gorged the contents. I was on the bench only to conceal the shortage of troops from the deadly enemy across the way. For all he knew, unless his counterintelligence had been extra alert, all of us were bona fide football players, instead of guys who were willing to get knocked about in scrimmage in return for free admittance to the games.

Take me, for instance . . . the scrawny one with his helmet pulled down over his eyes. Looks a powerful lot like one of those scatback runners . . . rabbity, put together with strings and springs. Cool, too, not a sign of tension. They'll probably hold him back until they're in scoring position.

But that wasn't the real me. The real me looked and acted that way because hunger had set in before halftime. The only thing on the place to eat was a dirty sponge and part of a pack of Juicy Fruit gum, which was not my brand. I figured with the helmet pulled down, I wouldn't see all that blood and raw meat out thar on that gridiron, grrr.

It was torture. And there was no point to it.

I'm glad the Harvard nutritional experts have told the truth about it.

Canberra Booms

Canberra, the made-to-order capital of Australia, got off to a slow start. Now it's enjoying a dramatic boom in population and building.

The population has nearly tripled in a decade to the present peak of 40,000. Houses are sprouting like mushrooms to catch up with demand. The new National Captial Development Commission is expected to relieve Canberra of its old byname: "Seven Scattered Suburbs in Search of a City."

Widespread Australian skepticism of the "white-elephant" capital has turned to pride. Like Washington, D. C., it has become a national mecca—a place to be visited at least once in a lifetime. Each year some 300,000 Australian tourists come to their federal city which lies in a broad, green valley 70 miles inland from the southeast coast.

Under a five-year plan, a National Center for archives will be raised on the long-empty crest of Capital Hill. A new parliament building and other civic structures are planned. The Molonglo River will be dammed to create a chain of placid lakes in the heart of town.

Canberra's surging growth justifies the dream of the late Walter Burley Griffin, a Chicago landscape architect.

It was he who designed the city in worldwide competition after Australia's young federation of states agreed in 1909 on the location for a seat of government.

The site, a tract of sheep-grazing country in the foothills of the Australian Alps, was included in the Australian Capital Territory given by New South Wales. Construction began in 1913.

In the Minnesota iron ore range, apple trees grow 2,500 feet down in underground mines. Seeds apparently were tossed aside by apple-eating miners.

Letter To The Editor

I am a teen-age youth of 15 and am very interested in cars, as are most teen-agers.

I think that if the city of East Liverpool would sponsor a drag strip the boys would not be dragging in the streets and on the public highways. That way it would make safer streets and highways and still the boys would have a safe place to drag.

If a few older men would take an interest and sponsor it I believe it would make a safer and better East Liverpool. Boys always will drag race their "rods" and that will never be stopped. So if we could get some place to have for drag races it would solve the problem. I do not have a car, but I know how other boys feel who do have cars.

So come on, let's help make the highways and streets safe and still give the boys a place to drag.

All-Out War Unlikely

By James Marlow

Different Communist Approach Expected

WASHINGTON — What is the liklihood of war with the Communist world any time soon? And where, since communism is dedicated to conquering the earth, will the Soviets and Red Chinese do their pushing?

The State Department has provided careful answers to both questions. It doesn't rule out some shooting on a limited scale, if the Communists think it worth the price and the danger.

But the department says: for the foreseeable future it is likely the Soviets and Red Chinese will avoid all-out war and try to push their programs by political, economia and psychological means.

The State Department gave written answers to a series of questions from the Senate's Disarmament subcommittee.

Although the department is optimistic about avoiding a world war, it said enough to show it expects this country to have its hands full trying to cope with the Red bloc for years to come.

One thing the department made clear: it is satisfied that Premier Nikita Khrushchev, having eliminated his rivals, is undisputed boss of the Soviet Union and that therefore the political situation there should be stable for years.

It is ironic that just a few days before the May 11 meeting at Geneva—between the Western and Soviet foreign ministers to talk about troubles in Europe—the department should be anticipating no end of trouble from the Communist bloc around the world.

This is the picture. So long as the West remains as well armed as the Soviets — and therefore could make all-out war unendurable — there isn't likely to be a general war.

But the Soviets' main thrust will probably continue to be in the under-developed countries, with main emphasis on the Middle East, where anti-Western feeling and native Communist help gives the Soviets hope for takeover.

Latin America and particularly the newly emerging countries of Africa will probably become increasingly important targets of Moscow's political-economic offensive.

The department added: "In Europe the basic Soviet objective is consolidation of Moscow's control in Eastern Europe and reduction of Western military strength, particularly that of the United States.

"Soviet policies there for the foreseeable future will thus be aimed at tightening Moscow's grip on what it has and depriving the west of its advantage there rather than at direct Soviet expansion, although they will also seek to force the West from its position in Berlin."

As for the Red Chinese: For the immediate future the most likely form of Chinese Communist expansion is continued effort to increase political and economic influence, especially in Southeast Asia, through trade offensives, subversion and political pressure.

The department seems less hopeful that the Red Chinese will refrain from shooting.

It said: "An attack could of course take place anywhere along the perimeter of Communist-controlled territory in Asia."

The GOP In 1960

By Raymond Moley

The Republican National Committee, meeting in January in Des Moines, did plenty of breast-beating, which was probably wholesome. A few "mea culpas" are good for any sorely afflicted soul.

Democrats over the nation have been assuming that about their only problem now is to select the next president from an assortment of aspirants. They believe that the AFL-CIO COPE will get out the necessary votes for them.

This is the sort of situation, however, which realistic students of politics always find excellent material for a bit of devastating analysis. In political life, as in sports, when excessive depression confronts excessive confidence, the wise ones anticipate an upset. A bit of analysis presents a far different prospect than is anticipated by most people.

There are four means which are commonly used to anticipate future events in politics: historical precedent, statistics, polls, and a logical appraisal of obvious facts. The latter is paramount.

MY CONCLUSION, after a lot of history reading, is the conviction that in a matter like this history is as likely to reverse itself as to repeat. For the facts are never the same.

Statistics are tricky when used to evaluate a market or a political situation. They are useful to an observer who is able to take a lot of nonstatistical facts into account.

They are a crutch but a poor substitute for a head and legs. However, the Congressional Quarterly, in a fine, exhaustic survey of the 1958 election statistics, has demonstrated that a Republican can be elected president in 1960 even if the congressional results in that year are as heavily Democratic as they were last year.

Polls are even more tricky than statistics. Among the pollees, unfortunately, there are so many prevaricators, wobblers and dumb ones that when all is assessed, the margin of guesswork is tremendous.

So let us fall back on logic, common sense and a few facts available to all.

THE AVERAGE American voter approaches his decision in selecting a president in a mood quite different from that in voting for a congressman, a state legislator, or a councilman, because he generally knows those candidates personally. They are neighbors and his evaluation of their personalities weighs heavily. Ideology is not much of a consideration. "Nice guys" have a big advantage.

But something of the solemnity of the choice of a president known only as a distant figure weighs heavily upon the voter. The job is so big that there is vastly more interest in the choice.

Half again as many people take the trouble to vote for a president as in local elections.

The larger turn-out means that a vast new segment of the voting population is activated. And I have the firm conviction that this segment, sad as it may be, encompasses a considerable part of the otherwise good people who have saved and worked and believe in tradition and the verities of life.

The election of 1958 was an organized victory in which the AFL-CIO COPE skillfully concentrated its limited power and resources on the marginal spots. It has neither the means nor the capacity to And in the elections of 1948, 1952, and 1956 it was only indifferently interested in the presidency. What it wanted was to influence legislation.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS provides a tremendous emotional factor in the determination of voters' choices, for the dread apparition of the threat of war moves us all.

Voters are going to contrast the troubled but peaceful years under Messrs. Eisenhower and Dulles with the years 1945-53 when Communism was permitted to overrun half the world.

With a candidate like Vice President Nixon, who is able cogently to portray our foreign problems and who can commend himself as most experienced in high affairs, voters of both parties will respond favorably as against any Democrat who claims that there is a certain indefinable something better than keeping the peace.

Whatever may be the external picture, the thoughful ones in the party are not happy at the offerings in their supermarket of candidates. Some are green and some are overripe. There are health hazards among them—a problem with which Republicans will probably have no concern this time. Certainly there are no Roosevelts among the aspirants—none whose name is a household word. Come are not even nationally known.

These are considerations which should warn anyone to wager nothing on a Democratic president in 1961. But, of course, time and chance may alter this array of facts. The future is still ahead.

City's Traffic Mishaps Hurt Child, Girl, 16

A 2-year-old boy and a 16-year-old girl were injured Saturday in separate traffic mishaps, police reported.

Paul Orton Hall II, son of Paul O. Hall, 215 W. 4th St., was admitted to City Hospital shortly before noon Saturday with injuries received from a backing car on Washington St.

The hospital said the youngster was X-rayed but his injuries were not listed.

Harry E. Justice, 30, of 811 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, told police he had stopped on Washington south of E. 2nd St. and handed a check to a girl. He said he started to back up when he heard the child scream.

He got out and found the Hall boy under his car. Justice said he got the child from under his car and took him to the hospital.

Justice estimated he had backed not more than 5 feet when he heard the scream and stopped.

Darlene Martin, 16, of 1580 Holliday St. suffered a scratch on her leg when the car in which she was riding struck a U. S. mail truck Saturday afternoon at 3:15 on Armstron Ln., police said.

Robert Wright, also 16, of 1006 St. George St., told police he was headed south on Armstrong Ln. and his brakes failed when he went to stop for the mail truck operated by Arthur McDevitt of R. D. 2.

The other passengers in the Wright car were Beverly Dawson, 16, of 1571 Holliday St.; Bonnie McClaren, 16, of 748 Lang St., and Phil Chan, 17, of 1012 Locust St., police said.

A backward drifting car owned by Ora Gertrude VanDyne, 37, of 1048 St. George St., damaged the parked car of Robert Hoover of Cain St. Sunday at 9:50 a. m. on Walnut St., police said.

The woman said she had halted her car on the northeast side of Walnut St. and entered the Bus Terminal. When she returned, she said she found the car evidently had drifted backward through the normally heavy traffic on E. 5th St. and struck the Hoover auto, parked on the southwest side of Walnut St.

Hancock Jurors Start $25,000 Damage Case

NEW CUMBERLAND — A Hancock County petit jury convened this morning at 10 to hear a $25,000 damage suit.

Judge Brennan is scheduled to hear arguments today on a motion for a new trial for William W. Harper of Chester, from whom Mrs. Adaline Roach was awarded a verdict of $15,000 in March in an invasion of privacy suit. She had asked $50,000 damages, claiming a hidden microphone was installed in an apartment which she once rented from Harper.

Wellsville Contributes $467 For Cancer Fund

A total of $467 has been collected in Wellsville's Cancer Fund campaign, according to Solicitor William Bush, chairman, who said collections are lagging.

The figure represents special gifts, direct mail contributions and collections from bars and taverns.

No report has been received from the Wellsville Women's Civic Club on its house-to-house canvass. The canvass was delayed because of rainy weather, Bush said.

Cancer coin containers will be collected this week from business establishments by members of the Kiwanis Club. Bush said he plans to complete the drive in another week.

Robert Wright, also 16, of 1006 St. George St., told police he was headed south on Armstrong Ln. and his brakes failed when he went to stop for the mail truck operated by Arthur McDevitt of R. D. 2.

The other passengers in the Wright car were Beverly Dawson, 16, of 1571 Holliday St.; Bonnie McClaren, 16, of 748 Lang St., and Phil Chan, 17, of 1012 Locust St., police said.

A backward drifting car owned by Ora Gertrude VanDyne, 37, of 1048 St. George St., damaged the parked car of Robert Hoover of Cain St. Sunday at 9:50 a. m. on Walnut St., police said.

The woman said she had halted her car on the northeast side of Walnut St. and entered the Bus Terminal. When she returned, she said she found the car evidently had drifted backward through the normally heavy traffic on E. 5th St. and struck the Hoover auto, parked on the southwest side of Walnut St.

NEW CUMBERLAND — A Hancock County petit jury convened this morning at 10 to hear a $25,000 damage suit.

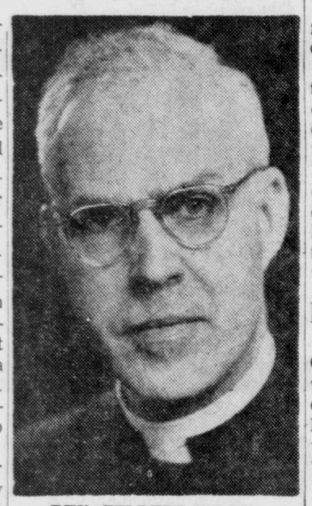
Rev. Wilson Resigns

Lutheran Pastor To Take New Post In Scottdale, Pa.



REV. WILBERT WILSON
Served Here 9 Years.

The Rev. Wilbert T. Wilson, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, announced his resignation at the Sunday morning service, effective July 1, to become pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church at Scottdale, Pa.

He has been pastor here for over nine years, the second longest tenure in the history of the church.

Rev. Wilson received his elementary and high school education at Verona and Oakmont and attended the Wittenberg Academy at Springfield, where he received a bachelor of arts degree in 1928. He then attended the Hamma Divinity School at the college for two years.

In 1931 he received a bachelor of divinity degree at the Mt. Airy Lutheran Theological School at Philadelphia.

His first charge was near Zelienople, where he remained for five years. Then he went to the Calvary Lutheran Church at Natrona Heights, Pa., where he served 13 years before coming to East Liverpool.

During his pastorage, a $25,000 parish house was completed. Dedicated June 9, 1955, it was debt-free in 1956. The church also underwent a complete renovation.

He is past president of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association and has held other offices in the group. He is at present chairman of the hospital chaplain committee. He is also a member of the Board of Managers of the Lutheran Old People's Home at Zelienople and a faculty member of the Luther Leaders Training School at Camp Lutherlyn at Prospect, near Butler. He also has served on various committees of the West Conference and the Pittsburgh Synod.

He has assisted in many community projects and has had an interest in music and youth work.

A successor will be named following a meeting of the local pulpit committee and the president of the Pittsburgh Synod, Dr. G. L. Himmelman.

Mrs. Virgil Septer, chairman in Hookstown, reported $20 collected. She was assisted by Mrs. Donald Laughlin, Mrs. Robert Dawson, Miss Janet Doughty and Miss Jane Nickle. The Hookstown Grange collected $23 in a recent public card party.

Mrs. William Thompson, general chairman, reported $10.53 collected in Shippingport. She was assisted by Miss Donna Rogers.

Some $38.88 was collected in Greene Township. Helping with the drive were Mrs. Edison Chaffin, Mrs. Thelma Howard, Mrs. Harry Nelson, Mrs. William McGaffic and Mrs. William Laughlin.

Wellsville Contributes $467 For Cancer Fund

A total of $467 has been collected in Wellsville's Cancer Fund campaign, according to Solicitor William Bush, chairman, who said collections are lagging.

The figure represents special gifts, direct mail contributions and collections from bars and taverns.

No report has been received from the Wellsville Women's Civic Club on its house-to-house canvass. The canvass was delayed because of rainy weather, Bush said.

Cancer coin containers will be collected this week from business establishments by members of the Kiwanis Club. Bush said he plans to complete the drive in another week.

The other dead were from Tennessee, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan. A seventh man escaped with minor injuries.

The youth was born in St. Louis May 14, 1941, son of Mrs. Flora Stanciu and the late James Stanciu. A member of the St. Paul Catholic Church at Salem, he entered service last August.

Walter Grdish, 35, of Cleveland escaped injury this morning at 3:15 when his car smashed into a guardrail along Route 30 at Rock Camp after he fell asleep at the wheel, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

chair and flames spread while the family was absent.

Fire Chief Kenneth Mills of the Glenmoor volunteer fire department said 12 volunteers in three trucks quelled the blaze at the one-story home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Marshall of Rome and Samuel Sts.

Mills said Marshall had been smoking in the chair earlier in the afternoon and extinguished the cigarette before he and the family went visiting with his mother. However, some hot ashes apparently fell between cushions and set the material afire after the family left.

A neighbor woman, seeing smoke coming from the eaves and windows, called firemen at 2:15. The Marshalls arrived home shortly after firemen came, Mills reported.

Fire damage was confined to the living room, but there was water and smoke damage elsewhere in the wooden structure, which is stuccoed. The loss is covered by insurance, firemen said.

Chief Mills expressed appreciation to the Liverpool Township west department for providing a fire truck at the Glenmoor station on a standby basis.

Queen Gets Irked As Son Charles Gets Too Playful

LONDON (AP)—A boy of 10 can be an awful pest even if he happens to be the future king of England.

His mother can also get annoyed at his behavior even if she happens to be the Queen of England.

This was demonstrated Sunday at a polo game between Ascot and Windsor Park, led by Prince Charles' father, Prince Philip.

Queen Elizabeth II, wearing a green raincoat, scarf and low heeled shoes, drove to the game from Windsor Castle. Accompanied by Charles and his 8-year-old sister, Anne, she went to a canvas-roofed canopy because it was raining.

The roof sagged from the weight of pools of water on either side of the center pole. Suddenly Charles punched the canvas, causing water to splash on his mother's stockings. Mother frowned. Charles repeated the maneuver against the other bulge.

As 4,000 spectators watched, the Queen's high girlish voice was heard saying:

"Charles! Sit down!"

Charles sat down.

Philip's team won, 4 goals to 3½.

Queen Gets Irked As Son Charles Gets Too Playful

LONDON (AP)—A boy of 10 can be an awful pest even if he happens to be the future king of England.

His mother can also get annoyed at his behavior even if she happens to be the Queen of England.

This was demonstrated Sunday at a polo game between Ascot and Windsor Park, led by Prince Charles' father, Prince Philip.

Queen Elizabeth II, wearing a green raincoat, scarf and low heeled shoes, drove to the game from Windsor Castle. Accompanied by Charles and his 8-year-old sister, Anne, she went to a canvas-roofed canopy because it was raining.

The roof sagged from the weight of pools of water on either side of the center pole. Suddenly Charles punched the canvas, causing water to splash on his mother's stockings. Mother frowned. Charles repeated the maneuver against the other bulge.

As 4,000 spectators watched, the Queen's high girlish voice was heard saying:

"Charles! Sit down!"

Charles sat down.

Philip's team won, 4 goals to 3½.

All leaves from Weirton Steel must be scheduled in order that satisfactory arrangements can be made by the management so the employe's absence will not interfere with operations.

How Much Do You Know About Mortuary Services?

★ PROCEDURES, COSTS?

★ YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES?

There are good reasons why everyone should be familiar with mortuary details and customs.

For one thing, you never know when you might have to act for the family or help friends with a funeral arrangement. For another, you never know what special conditions you might have to face. An accident, or a death far from home — perhaps overseas — frequently poses some knotty problems. Still a third good reason lies in the fact that some pre-knowledge greatly reduces your mental stress in a difficult period—and most important—helps you to guard against overspending.

We have the answers to the problems you'll face, and we've put them all in a handy little pocket-size booklet for you.

Pope Will Use Throne, But Prefers To Walk

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII says he does not like being carried around on a portable throne. But he says he will go on using it because it gives more people a chance to see him.

Speaking Sunday to 100,000 persons at the New Roman Church of Saint Giovanni (John) Bosco, the 77-year-old pontiff said he preferred to walk "like other persons."

The portable throne is carried on the shoulders of 30 papal chair bearers. Last December, the 205-pound Pope ordered a bonus of 15,000 lire ($25) paid to each bearer.

How Much Do You Know About Mortuary Services?

★ PROCEDURES, COSTS?

★ YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES?

There are good reasons why everyone should be familiar with mortuary details and customs.

For one thing, you never know when you might have to act for the family or help friends with a funeral arrangement. For another, you never know what special conditions you might have to face. An accident, or a death far from home — perhaps overseas — frequently poses some knotty problems. Still a third good reason lies in the fact that some pre-knowledge greatly reduces your mental stress in a difficult period—and most important—helps you to guard against overspending.

We have the answers to the problems you'll face, and we've put them all in a handy little pocket-size booklet for you.

chase one share of the new convertible preferred stock for each 38 shares of common stock held," Crucible announced.

"The Board of Directors has fixed 3:30 p. m. May 26, or at the same time on such later date as the registration statement becomes effective, as the record date for determining stockholders entitled to participate in the offering," the firm said.

"The board has fixed 3:30 p. m. June 9 or at the same time on such later date as shall be at least 14 days after such record date, as the time for expiration of the subscription privilege," the firm continued.

Crucible plans to make arrangements with a group of underwriters, headed by the First Boston Corp., to purchase from the company any shares not purchased by the stockholders.

The firm said further details of the proposed offering will be announced later. The company also is negotiating the private placement of $15 million of additional first mortgage bonds.

Hospitals

Regarding bed facilities: "At Gallipolis (State Hospital) there are areas where there is no space between beds. At Toledo there are units with three rows together and no space in between.

"The crowding at Cleveland State causes constant exercise of ingenuity as to 'How many more beds can be put in this corridor,' or 'That two-bed room only has four beds in it—would there be room for five?'

"The question is not 'What is good for the patient' but 'Who shall we crowd to give her a bed?' Frequently patients must climb over two or more beds to get to their own . . . .

"These conditions cause fights, molestations and the spread of colds and disease. They make it impossible for patients to have a place to keep personal possessions. They constitute a major fire hazare. They are detrimental to the mental recovery of patients.

"They are not humanitarian."

Regarding illegitimacies: "About 25 to 40 patients become pregnant each year. Of these, all but a few are conceived by patients on trial visits (home)."

Regarding dental care: "The state furnishes tooth brushes but no tooth paste. Some hospitals use salt, when they have it; others use salt and soda. Toledo uses nothing . . . .

"Massillon extracts more teeth than it repairs . . . . Tiffin, with 800 patients, filled 42 teeth last year."

Conclusion: "It is the survey opinion that excellent (patient) care is being given in four hospitals, good care in 11, fair care in seven and poor care in but two.

"The excellent care hospitals are Cleveland Psychiatric Institute, Columbus Psychiatric Institute, Columbus Children's Psychiatric Hospital and Fairhill Regional Treatment Center . . . .

"Hospitals which rate 'good' . . . are Athens, Orient, Portsmouth, Rollman, Dayton State, Columbus State School, Mount Vernon, Applecreek, Hawthornden, Summit County and Woodside.

"Those considered 'fair' . . . . are Columbus State, Cambridge, Toledo State, Tiffin, Massillon, Longview and Lima.

"The two hospitals with poor programs of patient care are Gallipolis and Cleveland State."

Food:

"Cottage and ward patients are getting cold food served in an unsanitary manner, with exceptions.

"At Orient and Massillon it was seen that 200 trays were set up, slowly carried by patients to the tables, and only when the last tray was served—one-half hour later—did the patients begin to eat their food . . . . The common practice is to put work convenience before patient comfort."

"Due to equipment deficiencies, much of the food served to our patients is not properly cooked. . . . . In some hospitals, the cooks do very little tasting—their story is that they are told not to eat in the kitchen so they don't taste."

The report points out that hospital budgets allow 56 cents a day to feed one patient three meals, and adds:

"It is a common sight to see patients take eight to 10 slices of bread so as to have a large enough meal."

The report recommends re-evaluating the per capita allocation for food money.

Sanitation:

"The state cannot be proud of the standard of sanitation found in its hospitals . . . .

"Drinking fountains are in short supply . . . . Unsanitary methods of dispensing water are common. A tin cup used by 50 patients is often seen . . . ."

Pest control: "The worst conditions were found at Gallipolis—where evidentally nothing was done for control and there was no concern—and at Athens and Hawthornden. At the latter, when a light was turned on in one cottage room the floor was literally 'moving' as the roaches scurried into the cupboards; in the next room, a patient was stationed by the food to keep roaches off it."

Dishwashing: "Many (hospital cottages) have almost no facilities for dishwashing . . . . Dishes are wiped by what were observed often to be dirty towels."

"It is almost universally the case that the hospitals are dangerously deficient in emergency power."

"Adam's Ale" is water.

Food:

"Cottage and ward patients are getting cold food served in an unsanitary manner, with exceptions.

"At Orient and Massillon it was seen that 200 trays were set up, slowly carried by patients to the tables, and only when the last tray was served—one-half hour later—did the patients begin to eat their food . . . . The common practice is to put work convenience before patient comfort."

"Due to equipment deficiencies, much of the food served to our patients is not properly cooked. . . . . In some hospitals, the cooks do very little tasting—their story is that they are told not to eat in the kitchen so they don't taste."

The report points out that hospital budgets allow 56 cents a day to feed one patient three meals, and adds:

"It is a common sight to see patients take eight to 10 slices of bread so as to have a large enough meal."

The report recommends re-evaluating the per capita allocation for food money.

Sanitation:

"The state cannot be proud of the standard of sanitation found in its hospitals . . . .

"Drinking fountains are in short supply . . . . Unsanitary methods of dispensing water are common. A tin cup used by 50 patients is often seen . . . ."

Pest control: "The worst conditions were found at Gallipolis—where evidentally nothing was done for control and there was no concern—and at Athens and Hawthornden. At the latter, when a light was turned on in one cottage room the floor was literally 'moving' as the roaches scurried into the cupboards; in the next room, a patient was stationed by the food to keep roaches off it."

Dishwashing: "Many (hospital cottages) have almost no facilities for dishwashing . . . . Dishes are wiped by what were observed often to be dirty towels."

"It is almost universally the case that the hospitals are dangerously deficient in emergency power."

"Adam's Ale" is water.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Whenever a page is missing from our newspaper I know my wife didn't want me to see something. Usually, it's your column. However, when you give the wives a boost (or the husbands a knock) she folds the paper with your column on the outside and puts it in my big chair.

Today a page was missing. I fooled her and went out and bought another paper. Sure enough it had the letter from the wife who was always "too tired" or "had too much work to do." I could have kissed you, Ann, when you told her "there's more to marriage than waxing the linoleum."

I "innocently" asked my wife if she'd seen your column that day. Her reply was "Yes, and Ann Landers is crazy. Sex is strictly for men. A woman of good up-bringing isn't interested in such things."

I know I'll never change my cold tomato so there's no use trying. But thanks for doing a great job. Maybe you can educate the younger ones. For THEM there may still be hope.—MOTOR CITY MALE.

-:-

Dear Male: I received many letters from men expressing the same sentiments but I got a rash of complaints from women who were boiling mad.

Most women who wrote made a valid point. They asked what they were supposed to do with the kids when hubby arrives at 4:45 p.m. "fit as a fiddle and ready for love." Obviously it makes sense for a husband to pitch in with the work, have an early supper and help get the kiddies off to bed.

Perhaps I leaned too far in trying to make the point that some women use housework, kids, the tired routine or a headache as "excuses." It will be worth all the blasts from outraged women if I can get across the Big Idea that married love is a divine plan for mutual fulfillment and not a scheme designed for lecherous males.

P.S.: Strange coincidence of the week: The woman who wrote "I hate men and their damnable demands—" lives in Kissamee, Fla.

Beat Generation

Dear Ann: It's 4:15 a.m. and I'm baby sitting. I'm so tired I'm almost sick. I am 14 and tomorrow I have to go to school.

Mom doesn't like me to stay out late on school nights but I need money for so many things she lets me. If the people get in by 5 a.m. I'll make $2.25. They pay 25 cents an hour. I can sure use the money but it doesn't seem like much when you consider the hours I put in.

Some sitters fall asleep on the job and get rested up but I feel responsible for the kids so I stay awake. Something's wrong here and I don't know what. Can you help me?—BEAT.

-:-

Dear Beat: The hours are too long and the pay is too short. Double your rates. They're taking advantage of you.

You shouldn't sit later than 11 p.m. on school nights for any price. Weekends, 2 a.m. should be the limit. If people want to celebrate till dawn they should engage an adult to stay with their children, not a teen-ager.

-:-

Dear Ann: I have been engaged to a man 44. He has invited me and my 10-year-old son by a former marriage on a two-week trip. Would it be proper to go if I paid the expenses for the boy and myself? There's a lot of divided opinion at the place where I work. —NOLA.

-:-

It's never proper for unmarried people to take a trip together, no matter who pays for it. Tell your fiance the first trip must be to the altar. After that, you can go ANY PLACE together.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Charges Face Four In Attack On Dixie Coed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Four white men will be formally charged today with raping a Negro college girl, State Atty. W. D. Hopkins said.

The prosecutor said he would ask that they be held without bail pending referral of the case to the grand jury, which convenes June 1.

Demands mounted from Negro groups for vigorous, fair prosecution of the quartet, quoted by Sheriff Bill Joyce as admitting the crime.

A deputy sheriff said he found the 19-year-old Florida A&M student bound and gagged, still in her armed assailants' car when he arrested four Tallahasseans at gunpoint early Saturday.

Those arrested were identified as Patrick G. Scarborough, 20, on leave from the Air Force at Ft. Fisher, Wilmington, N.C.; William Collinsworth, 24, a telephone lineman; David Ervin Bagles, 18, a high school student, and Ollie Stoutamire, 16.

Florida's maximum penalty for a rape conviction is death, but no white man has ever gone to the state's electric chair for raping a Negro.

A wall brush can be made by covering a broom with clean flannel.

LISBON — Columbiana County Draft Board No. 16 will send eight men for induction into the armed forces Tuesday, May 12, and one will leave for a pre-induction physical examination on Friday, May 15.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Family Cooperation Helps Dieter

"My family considers my dieting a joke, and when they laugh at me, I can't stay on a diet." This sentence in a letter from a discouraged homemaker is reflected in many letters.

Ida Jean Kain

Dieters, the real issue is not whether your family is going to take your diet seriously, but whether you are. In most cases, when you really make your mind to reduce and set about it in a determined way, your family will sense this new resolve.

It is important to establish within yourself a conviction that reducing is what you want to do. When reducing is a means of carrying out something that is significant to you, dieting is meaningful.

Until you show the family that diet actually is important to you, you cannot expect them to take a serious attitude. If you are resolute and show results, you will win their admiration.

—:—

TRY AN APPROACH that will encourage cooperation. Say something like this to your family: "It would be far better for my health if I reduce 20 or 30 pounds, and I really do want to get this extra weight off. I will need your support.

"Right now I am not hungry, but tonight at dinner, I'll want to take second servings Please help me then. I may even bristle—for I love to eat.

"But if you can help me past that spot, I know that 30 minutes later I'll feel content and happy that I didn't overeat."

Be candid with your family. Ask for a little general support, not in terms of sympathy but to enlist their cooperation. You want the family to realize that what you are doing isn't easy. And you would appreciate a little praise when it is earned.

A note to husbands: If your wife is overweight and decides to reduce, don't make light of her efforts or make the error of saying, "I like you just the way you are."

Of course such reassurance is comforting, but it dininishes her drive to take off the burden of fat. Encourage her by promising to help in any way you can.

—:—

TELL HER you want her to get down to healthy normal weight so as to enhance your chance of celegrating your Golden Wedding Anniversary together. And if you are toting excess poundage, offer to reduce with her.

After she has lost a half dozen pounds, bring her a bunch of posies. That small token of appreciation will give her gladdened strength and renew her courage.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Mr. and Mrs. Reducing Plan." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Pleats will stay longer in a wash dress if they are dampened before pressing with water in which a few lumps of gum arabic have been disolved.

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Family Cooperation Helps Dieter

"My family considers my dieting a joke, and when they laugh at me, I can't stay on a diet." This sentence in a letter from a discouraged homemaker is reflected in many letters.

Ida Jean Kain

Dieters, the real issue is not whether your family is going to take your diet seriously, but whether you are. In most cases, when you really make your mind to reduce and set about it in a determined way, your family will sense this new resolve.

It is important to establish within yourself a conviction that reducing is what you want to do. When reducing is a means of carrying out something that is significant to you, dieting is meaningful.

Until you show the family that diet actually is important to you, you cannot expect them to take a serious attitude. If you are resolute and show results, you will win their admiration.

—:—

TRY AN APPROACH that will encourage cooperation. Say something like this to your family: "It would be far better for my health if I reduce 20 or 30 pounds, and I really do want to get this extra weight off. I will need your support.

"Right now I am not hungry, but tonight at dinner, I'll want to take second servings Please help me then. I may even bristle—for I love to eat.

"But if you can help me past that spot, I know that 30 minutes later I'll feel content and happy that I didn't overeat."

Be candid with your family. Ask for a little general support, not in terms of sympathy but to enlist their cooperation. You want the family to realize that what you are doing isn't easy. And you would appreciate a little praise when it is earned.

A note to husbands: If your wife is overweight and decides to reduce, don't make light of her efforts or make the error of saying, "I like you just the way you are."

Of course such reassurance is comforting, but it dininishes her drive to take off the burden of fat. Encourage her by promising to help in any way you can.

—:—

TELL HER you want her to get down to healthy normal weight so as to enhance your chance of celegrating your Golden Wedding Anniversary together. And if you are toting excess poundage, offer to reduce with her.

After she has lost a half dozen pounds, bring her a bunch of posies. That small token of appreciation will give her gladdened strength and renew her courage.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Mr. and Mrs. Reducing Plan." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Pleats will stay longer in a wash dress if they are dampened before pressing with water in which a few lumps of gum arabic have been disolved.

Devoted to Civic and Community Affairs.

As First Ward Councilman, I have tried diligently to represent the residents of the 1st Ward and the City as to their wishes. I opposed the recent City Income Tax in both occasions, namely because I felt it was not presented to the people properly, it was not the choice of the people by popular vote, and because I objected to the structure of the Tax Ordinance. I have registered all complaints to the proper offices, and I promise to serve East Liverpool residents as to their wishes and best interests toward making our community a better, more progressive, happier, and more settled place to live.

GI Insurance Savings Seen

A savings of up to two-thirds in their GI insurance costs can be made by those veterans who served in the Korean and post-Korean period if insurance policy numbers are preceded by the letters "RS," according to A. G. Bille, contact representative of the Veterans Administration Office in Steubenville.

These approximately 500,000 policyholders may exchange their present five-year term policies for new term policies that carry the same face value at a greatly reduced premium cost. These savings are made possible by a continuing improvement in mortality rates resulting from a lengthening of the life span.

The new policies are not renewable after the holder has passed his 50th birthday but must be converted to a permanent plan before that date if he wishes to continue protection. In all other respects, they carry the same protection of the present policies.

This restriction is considered to be in the best interest of policyholders to avoid the heavy increases in renewal term rates in later life.

Bille added that holders of the present term policies also have several plans of permanent insurance to which they can convert immediately. However, the premiums for permanent plans, while they never increase, are in a higher bracket than term insurance.

Veterans not wishing to incur the expense at this time of the permanent type plans can save money while waiting by exchanging their original term policies to the new low-cost type, Bille said. Both the present and the new term policies can be converted at anytime, without physical examination, to a VA permanent-type plan.

Full information can be secured by contacting the Veterans Administration Office, 227 N. 5th St., Steubenville.

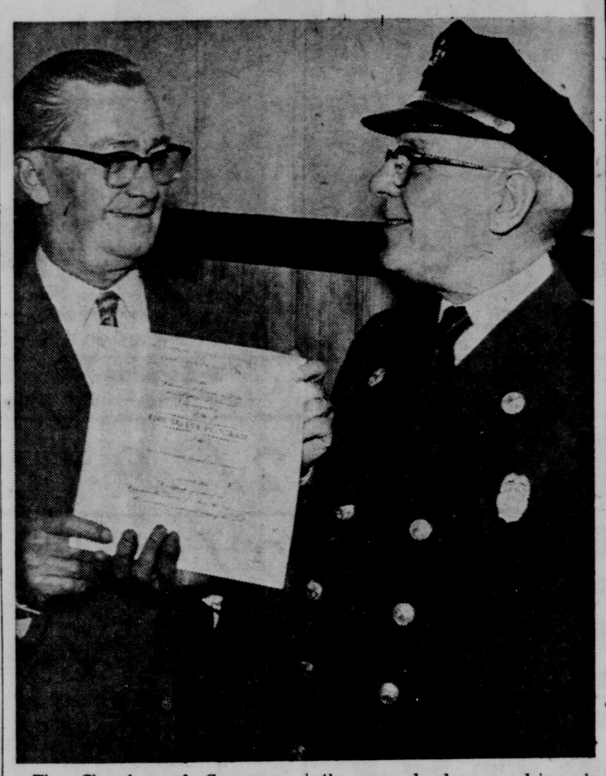
C. Of C. Gets Certificate

Fire Prevention Cited



The Chamber of Commerce has received a "certificate of merit and community service" from the U. S. Chamber at Washington for the part it played in 1958, in co-operation with the fire department, in conducting a fire prevention program in East Liverpool.

Shown examining the certificate are two men who led the campaign, Alvin Arner, chairman of the Chamber safety committee, and Fire Chief Charles Bryan.

The award was made in connection with the National Inter-Chamber Fire Safety Contest, sponsored by the national organization, in which Chambers throughout the country take part.

Signed by William A. McDonnell, president, and Arch N. Booth, executive vice president, of the U. S. Chamber it says the certificate was presented "in recognition of the fire safety program of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce. . . for fire prevention and conservation activities during the year."

The award was based on the Chamber's sponsorship of the annual observance of Fire Prevention Week here last fall, plus the annual clean-up drive, in which rubbish that might form a fire hazard is hauled out of households and business places. The Chamber emphasized that the fire department's efforts helped make the award possible, as firemen conducted inspections and gave demonstrations as part of Fire Prevention Week.

A report on fire department activities, fire loss and other details was part of the summary furnished the U. S. Chamber on the local program. The report noted that the fire department's strength was boosted from 28 to 32 in the last half of the year, although the new men were laid off Dec. 31 after repeal of the income tax that had helped pay their salaries.

The certificate was accompanied by a letter from Booth, who said the "certificate attests your active contribution to national fire safety and expresses to you and your Board of Directors our appreciation of your report in the contest.

"It is the devoted fire safety work in all participating communities that makes the Inter-Chamber contest a real force for conserving lives and property," he added.

GI Insurance Savings Seen

A savings of up to two-thirds in their GI insurance costs can be made by those veterans who served in the Korean and post-Korean period if insurance policy numbers are preceded by the letters "RS," according to A. G. Bille, contact representative of the Veterans Administration Office in Steubenville.

These approximately 500,000 policyholders may exchange their present five-year term policies for new term policies that carry the same face value at a greatly reduced premium cost. These savings are made possible by a continuing improvement in mortality rates resulting from a lengthening of the life span.

The new policies are not renewable after the holder has passed his 50th birthday but must be converted to a permanent plan before that date if he wishes to continue protection. In all other respects, they carry the same protection of the present policies.

This restriction is considered to be in the best interest of policyholders to avoid the heavy increases in renewal term rates in later life.

Bille added that holders of the present term policies also have several plans of permanent insurance to which they can convert immediately. However, the premiums for permanent plans, while they never increase, are in a higher bracket than term insurance.

Veterans not wishing to incur the expense at this time of the permanent type plans can save money while waiting by exchanging their original term policies to the new low-cost type, Bille said. Both the present and the new term policies can be converted at anytime, without physical examination, to a VA permanent-type plan.

Full information can be secured by contacting the Veterans Administration Office, 227 N. 5th St., Steubenville.

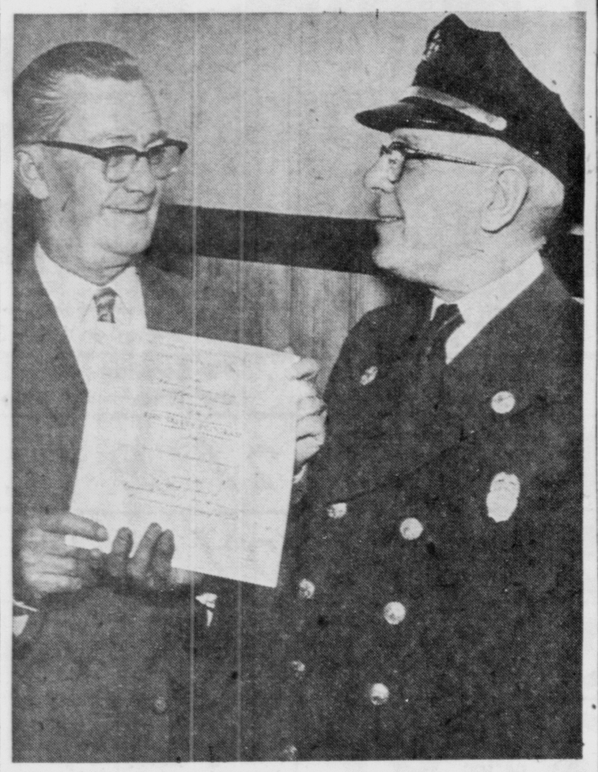
Fire Prevention Cited



The Chamber of Commerce has received a "certificate of merit and community service" from the U. S. Chamber at Washington for the part it played in 1958, in co-operation with the fire department, in conducting a fire prevention program in East Liverpool.

Shown examining the certificate are two men who led the campaign, Alvin Arner, chairman of the Chamber safety committee, and Fire Chief Charles Bryan.

Midland Police Search For Missing Teen-Ager

Karen Holmes, 16, of 360 Midland Ave. has been missing since Friday at 11 p. m., Midland police said today.

She is 5 feet 2 inches, weighs 98, and has hazel eyes and black hair. She was wearing blue slacks, a pink blouse, black suede shoes and white bobby socks.

Police received the report Saturday at 7:45 p. m. from the girl's mother. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Holmes. The missing person report was relayed to East Liverpool police.

Wellsville Has Unique Setup

New Radio System Proves Valuable

A radio "entrapment system," employing the use of shortwave radios in private cars, has been placed in use by the Wellsville police department.

Showing how the system works are Patrolman Robert Wellington, left, and Capt. Pete Trainer, right, as they talk with Chief John B. Hephner, center.

The radios have been installed in the cars of six of the seven-man force. They are rented with money provided by the Fraternal Order of Police Associates Lodge. The proceeds from wrestling matches sponsored by the FOPA were used in the project. Various businessmen also made private donations.

Trainer said all departments in Columbiana County have plans for using the system. With radios in private cars, the men are in constant touch with the cruiser and the department headquarters.

It already has proved its worth in Wellsville, Trainer said. Three men who robbed a Salem market and brought the loot to Wellsville were arrested after being watched from one of the private cars. Another officer prevented a traffic jam at a recent fire by immediately blocking off the street and radioing for aid.

The cars can be used to patrol an area or help chase down a criminal with a lesser chance of being spotted, police said.

Trainer also urged that voters approve a 1-mill police levy up for renewal at Tuesday's primary election. The money is used to pay the salaries of three men. He pointed out that the department is well equipped and uniformed but that it is now undermanned according to national statistics. If three men are lost, it would cut the force to four.

Trainer said national statistics show one and a half patrolmen are needed for every 1,000 persons. On this basis, 12 men are needed in Wellsville, making the city five men short, he said. Several organizations have endorsed the levy.

Midland Will Get 49-Star U.S. Flag Never Unfurled

A 49-star American flag, never flown over the national capitol, will be presented Midland Borough by Rep. Frank M. Clark of the 25th Congressional District, one of two guests at the July 4th celebration.

It is the custom for flags to be flown first over the capitol at Washington and then presented to cities and boroughs. The flag will be unflown because it is unlawful to fly the 49-star type until sunrise July 4. The borough will give the flag to the high school after it has been taken back to Washington and flown.

Judge Blair F. Gunther, who served as an Allegheny County judge before being elected to the Superior Court, will also be in Midland.

He is a director of two nationwide organizations he helped form. They are the Committee to Stop Communism and the Americans Battling Communism, Inc.

Cadet Larry Needs of Midland, a member of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., has accepted an invitation to attend. Two others invited are Midshipman Calvin Dunlap Jr. of Ohio View, at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., and Cadet Thomas Harris of Midland, at the U. S. Air Force Academy near Denver.

ARE FOUR TERMS ENOUGH?

It is axiomatic that there are no indispensable office holders. Moreover, it has been customary in East Liverpool for a city solicitor to seek office for two terms only.

I promise the voting public—that, if elected, I shall seek only one additional term.

150 Attend Wellsville Event

Kaycee Dinner Honors Fr. Lawler

More than 150 paid tribute Sunday to Fr. William J. Lawler, pastor of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Wellsville, at a testimonial dinner of Cardinal Mercier General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, in Immaculate Conception School Hall.

Principal speaker was Fr. Glenn Holdbrook, rector of St. Columba Cathedral at Youngstown, who praised Fr. Lawler as "a credit to the church, honest with himself and everyone he meets, always a gentleman . . . "

Fr. Lawler, a priest for 21 years, has served the Immaculate Conception parish five years. He is a former faithful friar of the Fourth Degree Knights and now serves as chaplain of the Wellsville Knights of Columbus Council.

The guests included priests of the Columbiana County deanery and the Youngstown area, members of the Wellsville parish and members and officers of district Knights of Columbus Councils and their wives and friends.

—:—

FRANK R. O'HANLON, faithful navigator of Cardinal Mercier Assembly, presented Fr. Lawler with a gift on behalf of the assembly. A gift from the Wellsville Kaycee Council was presented by Fred Baldasarre of Wellsville, marshal of the fourth degree group, who served as toastmaster.

The event also marked the 31st anniversary of the assembly. Baldasarre spoke briefly on the history of the life of Cardinal Mercier, for whom the assembly is named.

Fr. Arthur Nist of St. Ann Church in East End gave the opening prayer and the benediction was by Fr. Thomas Mulhearn, first assistant pastor at St. Aloysius Church in East Liverpool. Other priests who were guests included Fr. John Wirtz, assistant at Immaculate Conception; Fr. Joseph Heid of Our Lady of Lourdes Church in East Palestine; Fr. Will Hohman of St. George Church at Lisbon and Fr. Richard Gaffney of St. Paul's Church at Salem.

THE PROGRAM, stressing a patriotic theme, opened the group singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and closed with "God Bless America. Jack Stewart furnished the piano accompaniment.

Fr. Holdbrook, a personal friend of Fr. Lawler, recalled that the two served five years together as assistants at St. John's Church at Canton.

He recalled that Fr Lawler was ordained in April 1938 in Cleveland and that he came to serve the Wellsville parish in April 1954.

"Everything shows his order and conscientiousness," Fr. Holdbrook said. "But the finest tribute to him is your mere presence here tonight. Long after the other memories are gone, your friendship and loyalty will be sweetness in his cup."

Pointing out that some particularly accomplished men are termed "an artists' artist" or a "soldiers' soldier," Fr. Holdbrook concluded: "I always have thought of him as a priests' priest.'

Others who paid tribute to Fr. Lawler in brief remarks were: John E. Johnston of East Liverpool, Eastern Ohio District master of the Fourth Degree order; Fr. Nist; James McGowan of East Liverpool, district deputy; Baldasarre and O'Hanlon.

—:—

"THE FOURTH DEGREE has many reasons to honor Fr. Lawler," O'Hanlon declared. "He is a devout pastor whose personality has endeared him to parishoners, members of the Knights of Columbus and many others. He played no small part in the reactivation of our assembly."

Fr. Lawler spoke briefly in reply.

Special guests were two of Fr. Lawler's brothers, Richard and Robert Lawler, Grand knights of all Columbiana County Kaycee councils attended. Baldasarre headed the dinner committee. The dinner was prepared and served by members of the Wellsville Catholic Daughters of America.

LISBON — A total of 420 trailer licenses were sold through April 30, according to Kenneth Bell, county auditor. Last year 511 were issued through the year.

A $1 per day penalty was added, up to maximum of $25, for any trailer owner who did not purchase his license before the extended deadline.

3 Hancock Bands Receive Ratings At State's Festival

The Wells High School Band at Newell received a "superior" rating and the Chester High School Band was given a rating of "excellent" in concert playing at the West Virginia State Band Festival Friday and Saturday in Clarksburg.

Both bands were awarded "excellent" ratings in marching competition, school officials said.

A third Hancock County band which participated — New Cumberland High School—was awarded a rating of "good" in both marching and concert playing.

The 60-member Wells High band, directed by Mrs. Alyce Ann McDevitt, competed in Class C. Chester's 56-member band, directed by John Clovis, competed in Class B. New Cumberland also participated in Class C. Miss Helen Stobinsky is director.

The bands returned late Saturday night from the festival, where members were quartered in private homes.

Chaperones for the Newell band included Mrs. Mae Hupp, president of the Band Parents, and Mrs. Ward Jackson, Mrs. Alfred Bowen, Mrs. Paul Burnside, Mrs. Doyle Buck, Mrs. Phillip Pelley, Mrs. Donald Calhoun, Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mrs. Dewayne Staley, Mrs. Adam Gibas and Mrs. Salem Grimm.

Charged In Slaying

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A charge of second-degree murder has been filed against Frank Cinalt, 29, of Portage Lakes, in the beating and strangulation of Mrs. Eula Mae Brandt. Sheriff's deputies said Cinalt admitted killing the woman after she repulsed his advances. The body of Mrs. Brandt, 35-year-old Akron widow, was found in a field near here Saturday. Coroner Dr. William J. Pittenger ruled she died of a brain hemorrhage.

Hays To Seek Reductions In Overseas Aid

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th Ohio District congressman, declared Sunday in Washington he will seek changes in President Eisenhower's foreign aid program calling for a cut of $300 million.

A key member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, the Belmont County Democrat said he will propose a half-billion dollar slash in the President's request for military aid and defense support funds, especially for underdeveloped countries. But he also will urge a $200 million increase for the development loan fund.

Hays said he will offer the proposals when the House committee considers amendments to the President's $3,900,000,000 foreign aid bill, possibly late this week.

During hearings thus far on the administration's proposals, Hays has repeatedly questioned the need for military assistance to "dictatorships," especially in Latin America.

He also has criticized giving modern military equipment to underdeveloped countries which "don't know how to use it and don't need it."

Hays' amendments fall somewhat in line with proposals by Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Fulbright has introduced legislation that would put much greater emphasis on economic rather than military aid.

150 Attend Wellsville Event

Kaycee Dinner Honors Fr. Lawler

More than 150 paid tribute Sunday to Fr. William J. Lawler, pastor of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Wellsville, at a testimonial dinner of Cardinal Mercier General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, in Immaculate Conception School Hall.

Principal speaker was Fr. Glenn Holdbrook, rector of St. Columba Cathedral at Youngstown, who praised Fr. Lawler as "a credit to the church, honest with himself and everyone he meets, always a gentleman . . . "

Fr. Lawler, a priest for 21 years, has served the Immaculate Conception parish five years. He is a former faithful friar of the Fourth Degree Knights and now serves as chaplain of the Wellsville Knights of Columbus Council.

The guests included priests of the Columbiana County deanery and the Youngstown area, members of the Wellsville parish and members and officers of district Knights of Columbus Councils and their wives and friends.

—:—

FRANK R. O'HANLON, faithful navigator of Cardinal Mercier Assembly, presented Fr. Lawler with a gift on behalf of the assembly. A gift from the Wellsville Kaycee Council was presented by Fred Baldasarre of Wellsville, marshal of the fourth degree group, who served as toastmaster.

The event also marked the 31st anniversary of the assembly. Baldasarre spoke briefly on the history of the life of Cardinal Mercier, for whom the assembly is named.

Fr. Arthur Nist of St. Ann Church in East End gave the opening prayer and the benediction was by Fr. Thomas Mulhearn, first assistant pastor at St. Aloysius Church in East Liverpool. Other priests who were guests included Fr. John Wirtz, assistant at Immaculate Conception; Fr. Joseph Heid of Our Lady of Lourdes Church in East Palestine; Fr. Will Hohman of St. George Church at Lisbon and Fr. Richard Gaffney of St. Paul's Church at Salem.

THE PROGRAM, stressing a patriotic theme, opened the group singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and closed with "God Bless America. Jack Stewart furnished the piano accompaniment.

Fr. Holdbrook, a personal friend of Fr. Lawler, recalled that the two served five years together as assistants at St. John's Church at Canton.

He recalled that Fr Lawler was ordained in April 1938 in Cleveland and that he came to serve the Wellsville parish in April 1954.

"Everything shows his order and conscientiousness," Fr. Holdbrook said. "But the finest tribute to him is your mere presence here tonight. Long after the other memories are gone, your friendship and loyalty will be sweetness in his cup."

Pointing out that some particularly accomplished men are termed "an artists' artist" or a "soldiers' soldier," Fr. Holdbrook concluded: "I always have thought of him as a priests' priest.'

Others who paid tribute to Fr. Lawler in brief remarks were: John E. Johnston of East Liverpool, Eastern Ohio District master of the Fourth Degree order; Fr. Nist; James McGowan of East Liverpool, district deputy; Baldasarre and O'Hanlon.

—:—

"THE FOURTH DEGREE has many reasons to honor Fr. Lawler," O'Hanlon declared. "He is a devout pastor whose personality has endeared him to parishoners, members of the Knights of Columbus and many others. He played no small part in the reactivation of our assembly."

Fr. Lawler spoke briefly in reply.

Special guests were two of Fr. Lawler's brothers, Richard and Robert Lawler, Grand knights of all Columbiana County Kaycee councils attended. Baldasarre headed the dinner committee. The dinner was prepared and served by members of the Wellsville Catholic Daughters of America.

LISBON — A total of 420 trailer licenses were sold through April 30, according to Kenneth Bell, county auditor. Last year 511 were issued through the year.

A $1 per day penalty was added, up to maximum of $25, for any trailer owner who did not purchase his license before the extended deadline.

Persons occupying trailers at lakes just for the summer months must purchase the license, Bell said.

3 Hancock Bands Receive Ratings At State's Festival

The Wells High School Band at Newell received a "superior" rating and the Chester High School Band was given a rating of "excellent" in concert playing at the West Virginia State Band Festival Friday and Saturday in Clarksburg.

Both bands were awarded "excellent" ratings in marching competition, school officials said.

A third Hancock County band which participated — New Cumberland High School—was awarded a rating of "good" in both marching and concert playing.

The 60-member Wells High band, directed by Mrs. Alyce Ann McDevitt, competed in Class C. Chester's 56-member band, directed by John Clovis, competed in Class B. New Cumberland also participated in Class C. Miss Helen Stobinsky is director.

The bands returned late Saturday night from the festival, where members were quartered in private homes.

Chaperones for the Newell band included Mrs. Mae Hupp, president of the Band Parents, and Mrs. Ward Jackson, Mrs. Alfred Bowen, Mrs. Paul Burnside, Mrs. Doyle Buck, Mrs. Phillip Pelley, Mrs. Donald Calhoun, Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mrs. Dewayne Staley, Mrs. Adam Gibas and Mrs. Salem Grimm.

Charged In Slaying

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A charge of second-degree murder has been filed against Frank Cinalt, 29, of Portage Lakes, in the beating and strangulation of Mrs. Eula Mae Brandt. Sheriff's deputies said Cinalt admitted killing the woman after she repulsed his advances. The body of Mrs. Brandt, 35-year-old Akron widow, was found in a field near here Saturday. Coroner Dr. William J. Pittenger ruled she died of a brain hemorrhage.

Hays To Seek Reductions In Overseas Aid

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th Ohio District congressman, declared Sunday in Washington he will seek changes in President Eisenhower's foreign aid program calling for a cut of $300 million.

A key member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, the Belmont County Democrat said he will propose a half-billion dollar slash in the President's request for military aid and defense support funds, especially for underdeveloped countries. But he also will urge a $200 million increase for the development loan fund.

Hays said he will offer the proposals when the House committee considers amendments to the President's $3,900,000,000 foreign aid bill, possibly late this week.

During hearings thus far on the administration's proposals, Hays has repeatedly questioned the need for military assistance to "dictatorships," especially in Latin America.

He also has criticized giving modern military equipment to underdeveloped countries which "don't know how to use it and don't need it."

Hays' amendments fall somewhat in line with proposals by Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Fulbright has introduced legislation that would put much greater emphasis on economic rather than military aid.

Seem Very Confident

French Economic Picture Painted As Bright Today

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

PARIS (AP)—The French are greeting American businessmen these days with four pieces of good news and a couple of promises.

And the Americans are asking their French opposite numbers three as yet unresolved questions: 1. Will French labor upset the economic applecart with insistent demands for higher wages? 2. Will the French farmer stand for any clamping down on his prices? 3. How and when can the Algerian bloodletting be stopped and the financial drain on France ended?

But the French seem very confident today.

They are particularly proud of the good news which in recent days has pointed to success for President Charles de Gaulle's austerity program.

For one month at least France's exports have topped her imports — the first time in many months.

The French franc is so stable at present that even the tourists are not looking for bargains on the black market but getting their francs at the banks.

The cost of living index for the first time in many months was stable in April.

The Bank of France is so confident that the threat of further inflation is licked for the time being at least that it has lowered the discount rate from 4.25 to 4 per cent giving the go sign to industry (French and American firms here alike) to borrow more for expansion of plants or activities.

The two promises the French are giving American business are: 1. That French import quotas on American goods will be relaxed further in the not too distant future — they already are relaxed on 90 per cent of France's trade with other European nations: 2. That some of the red tape that American firms wanting to build plants here complain about will be cut away.

The cost of living stability at the moment and the expectations it will last for a time is credited to three things: wages have been held fairly level; so have prices on manufactured goods; and on food the big hope is the weather. It's been excellent for farming so far, meaning that the new crop of vegetables and fruits should come to the market earlier and in abundance.

The three were treated and released from Euclid-Glenville Hospital, where they were taken after helping Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gregorec from their burning home. Alger Award Given Head Of Weirton Steel

NEW YORK (AP) — A president of two steel companies who worked his way to the top from humble beginnings will be one of nine men to receive the annual Horatio Alger award for 1959 here Thursday.

He is Albert J. Berdis, 50-year-old head of Weirton Steel and the newly-formed Midwest Steel Corp.

Dor. Norman Vincent Peale, chairman of the awards committee of the American Schools and Colleges Assn., will make the presentations.

The fictional Horatio Alger, a rags-to-riches character, was the inspiration for the annual award which Berdis will receive. Much of his career has been in such a tradition.

Berdis worked his way through college, finally receiving an electrical engineering degree from Purdue University in his native Indiana in 1935.

He labored on weekends while at Purdue at U. S. Steel's Gary Sheet and Tin Mill. Berdis remained with the big firm until 1956, when he became vice president of manufacturing for the aluminum division of the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.

He returned to the steel industry as president of Weirton Steel in April, 1958. Weirton Steel is a division of National Steel.

Eight all - steel cabooses now in use on the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad in Maine were troop sleepers during World War II.

A GOOD PLACE to put that much needed family room is in the attic. This charming room, once waste space, is now the favorite spot in the house. Focal point of room is gable end which was replaced with glass set in stout Douglas fir mullions. Stairwell, richly paneled with west coast hemlock, makes elegant, hospitable entrance to family room.

Here Are Factors To Ponder In Choosing Site ForHouse

According to the best authorities on the subject, the selection of the site or location of a home is actually more important than the actual structure of the house.

This may seem debatable, yet taking everything about a house, location, etc., together, it will be found that it is true.

In considering the location of a house, one fundamental truth stands out, a poorly built house in an excellent neighborhood may well be a good buy because you can always improve the house.

A very well built house in a poor neighborhood, or one on the decline, is never a good buy, because you cannot improve the neighborhood. From the standpoint of resale value, almost any kind of a house in a fine neighborhood is twice as good as a fine house in a depreciating section.

We frequently see good houses in bad neighborhoods, and they are occupied, but most of the time it is because they cannot be sold except at a loss to the owner.

A second point to consider in selecting a home site is the availability of the public services such as telephone, electricity, gas and transportation.

Schools and churches also may be a condideration. Never buy a house at the end of a new road, unless you are assured of the usual facilities of normal living.

The physical characteristics of a building site are most important. The illustration here tells the story very nicely. Never buy in a gully where you will bake in summer, be flooded out by rains in the spring and burried in winter snow drifts. By and large, the story is to buy well elevated property, providing of course that it is accessible.

Fire Department Dependents' Fund Rises To $281,033

The Ohio Volunteer Firemen's Dependents Fund, in which 12 Columbiana County departments participate, has resources of $281,033 for benefits for widows and children of firemen who lose their lives in line of duty.

A report from State Auditor James A. Rhodes, administrator of the fund, shows the fund, now in its second year of operation, has 874 departments as members.

The county has eight city and village departments participating as well as four township departments. Throughout the state, there are 512 village and small city volunteer departments and 362 township units.

Benefits presently are being paid at a rate of $1,050 a month, including monthly benefits of $50 to 16 firemen's widows, $12.50 to 16 dependent children and $50 to permantly disabled firemen.

Two death claims of $1,000 each have been paid. Up to March 31, a total of $16,900 in claims has been paid. Interest earned on the premiums paid into the fund in that period amounts to $9,884.

Lack Of Mass Spurs Action Of Thermostat

CHICAGO — Why is modern heating equipment so responsive to the demands of the thermostat?

The answer is to be found largely in the lightness of materials, that is, the lack of mass.

It's like the old-fashioned pressing iron compared with modern appliances. The old iron was heavy and bulky and it took a long time to heat it up and to cool it.

It's the same way with modern heating equipment. Take the thermostat, for instance. Present-day thermostats are much lighter in weight than the older models. They permit good air circulation, with the result that they provide closer control of comfort.

Similarly modern heat distributors are lighter in mass and weight. Old-style radiators were bulky. New heat distributors such as convectors and baseboard are slenderized and streamlined.

In heat generating equipment, too, there has been a decided shrinkage in mass. Hot water boilers are smaller today than their old-style predecessors. In fact some models take up no more room than a television set, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau says.

This means for conveying heat, whether it be pipe or tube, also has been re-designed for reduction in size. The fact that circulation of the heating medium is achieved mechanically has enabled the heating industry to reduce the size of the distribution system.

Man Held At Columbus For Molesting Of Girl

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An 11-year-old girl was taken from her home at gunpoint Sunday and sexually molested.

Several hours later, one of the biggest manhunts in Columbus history flushed a man from a wooded area where the girl was attacked. Police called him a prime suspect.

Police said James Franklin Bond, 24, surrendered quietly after his brother talked to him over a loudspeaker.

Officers said he was badly cut up and was taken to Mercy Hospital, where he was placed under police guard.

Columbus Police Chief George W. Scholer personally directed the cordon of law officers who surrounded a 300-acre area and finally cornered Bond in bushes near an abandoned house, a few hundred yards from the spot where the girl was found.

No charges were placed against Bond immediately.

There are no railroads in Iceland, but there are about 2,728 miles of highways.

You Can Turn Unused Attic Into An Asset

PORTLAND, Ore. — Among the most fortunate people in the country are those who have a dusty, catch-all attic in their home, for it is here that a sparkling new, badly-needed family room or extra bedroom can be installed.

Usually, the biggest problem in converting an attic into a useful element of the house is not so much the redecoration involved as the construction of a stairwell connecting the attic with the story below.

Providing adequate access to the new room, admittedly, can be a bit tricky, but with the skillful help of an architect, anything is possible.

Because of the lack of space that can be devoted to it, the attic stairwell usually will have to be steep and of the wrap-around design. However, this liabliity can become an asset if care is given to its "decor."

For instance, emphasizing, instead of trying to minimize the stairwell's verticality often pays off.

This can be done by paneling the stairwell with a handsome wood like creamy beige west coast hemlock and installing the panel boards vertically. Then, a lamp of handsome contemporary design can be hung above the stairwell to provide the flood of light it needs and to continue the upward sweep of space. At the top, a simple, but decorative railing furnishes the finishing touch.

Decorating the new room is no trick at all, although for an attic room, the decor should be light and warm. Continuing the hemlock wall paneling from the stairwell into the attic room is probably the easiest and surest way to introduce both lightness and textured warmth.

The hemlock paneling, of course, should be finished clear, with just a coat of sealer applied to bring out its natural coloring and followed by a protective topping of wax or lacquer.

A lot of character and natural light will grace this attic room if the gable end is replaced with glass, a feat not nearly so difficult as it might sound.

Setting the glass panels in stout Douglas fir framing provides the necessary rigidity and lends a handsome touch to the glass wall. The window wall framing can either be left in its natural coloring or painted to match the main color used for the attic room furnishings.

Data On Earnings Needed In Social Security Claims

"I didn't know you needed that information," seems to be the stock answer of persons filing for Social Security benefits.

Since Social Security benefits are computed from a person's earnings, it is logical to assume that questions will be asked about earnings. Therefore, a person should bring in all information and proof of earnings for the last two years prior to filing. If he was an employee, he should also have his monthly earnings for the last 13 months. If he was self-employed and transferred his business, he should bring in proof of the transfer, as well as tax returns and evidence of payment of tax for the last two years.

Since Social Security eligibility is based on age, some proof of age is necessary. A birth certificate is best, but many other items will do, such as any formal document or record at least 10 years old. Many have qualified thanks to a church, school, employment, or hospital record, an old insurance policy, or the entry by some older relative in a family Bible. A person should bring some proof of age for each person for whom they are filing—themselves, wife, widow, children and/or parent.

In many claims, information and proof of marriage is necessary, so a person should have it available when they file. In death claims, proof of death is necessary, as well as the above.

And last, but not least, Social Security cards should be presented for each eligible person, if the individual has one.

Since the requirements are different in each claim, all the above proofs may not be necessary in every case, but it doesn't hurt to bring in as much information and proof that you have because your timely action can greatly speed up that important first payment.

For further information contact the local Social Security office in the post office.

Ohioan Kills Daughter, Then Takes Own Life

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Paul M. Hall's neighbors described him as a deeply religious man.

Sunday night, he apparently went berserk.

A blast from a 16-gauge shotgun killed his 7-year-old daughter, Betty. Then Hall, 37, turned the weapon on himself. Sheriff's Detective James Alltop called it murder and suicide.

Alltop quoted Hall's wife, Jane, 31, as saying it all started with an argument in their suburban Northridge home in which Hall blackened his wife's eye.

The city of Baltimore was founded in 1729.

A GOOD PLACE to put that much needed family room is in the attic. This charming room, once waste space, is now the favorite spot in the house. Focal point of room is gable end which was replaced with glass set in stout Douglas fir mullions. Stairwell, richly paneled with west coast hemlock, makes elegant, hospitable entrance to family room.

Here Are Factors To Ponder In Choosing Site ForHouse

According to the best authorities on the subject, the selection of the site or location of a home is actually more important than the actual structure of the house.

This may seem debatable, yet taking everything about a house, location, etc., together, it will be found that it is true.

In considering the location of a house, one fundamental truth stands out, a poorly built house in an excellent neighborhood may well be a good buy because you can always improve the house.

A very well built house in a poor neighborhood, or one on the decline, is never a good buy, because you cannot improve the neighborhood. From the standpoint of resale value, almost any kind of a house in a fine neighborhood is twice as good as a fine house in a depreciating section.

We frequently see good houses in bad neighborhoods, and they are occupied, but most of the time it is because they cannot be sold except at a loss to the owner.

A second point to consider in selecting a home site is the availability of the public services such as telephone, electricity, gas and transportation.

Schools and churches also may be a condideration. Never buy a house at the end of a new road, unless you are assured of the usual facilities of normal living.

The physical characteristics of a building site are most important. The illustration here tells the story very nicely. Never buy in a gully where you will bake in summer, be flooded out by rains in the spring and burried in winter snow drifts. By and large, the story is to buy well elevated property, providing of course that it is accessible.

Fire Department Dependents' Fund Rises To $281,033

The Ohio Volunteer Firemen's Dependents Fund, in which 12 Columbiana County departments participate, has resources of $281,033 for benefits for widows and children of firemen who lose their lives in line of duty.

A report from State Auditor James A. Rhodes, administrator of the fund, shows the fund, now in its second year of operation, has 874 departments as members.

The county has eight city and village departments participating as well as four township departments. Throughout the state, there are 512 village and small city volunteer departments and 362 township units.

Benefits presently are being paid at a rate of $1,050 a month, including monthly benefits of $50 to 16 firemen's widows, $12.50 to 16 dependent children and $50 to permantly disabled firemen.

Two death claims of $1,000 each have been paid. Up to March 31, a total of $16,900 in claims has been paid. Interest earned on the premiums paid into the fund in that period amounts to $9,884.

Lack Of Mass Spurs Action Of Thermostat

CHICAGO — Why is modern heating equipment so responsive to the demands of the thermostat?

The answer is to be found largely in the lightness of materials, that is, the lack of mass.

It's like the old-fashioned pressing iron compared with modern appliances. The old iron was heavy and bulky and it took a long time to heat it up and to cool it.

It's the same way with modern heating equipment. Take the thermostat, for instance. Present-day thermostats are much lighter in weight than the older models. They permit good air circulation, with the result that they provide closer control of comfort.

Similarly modern heat distributors are lighter in mass and weight. Old-style radiators were bulky. New heat distributors such as convectors and baseboard are slenderized and streamlined.

In heat generating equipment, too, there has been a decided shrinkage in mass. Hot water boilers are smaller today than their old-style predecessors. In fact some models take up no more room than a television set, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau says.

This means for conveying heat, whether it be pipe or tube, also has been re-designed for reduction in size. The fact that circulation of the heating medium is achieved mechanically has enabled the heating industry to reduce the size of the distribution system.

Man Held At Columbus For Molesting Of Girl

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An 11-year-old girl was taken from her home at gunpoint Sunday and sexually molested.

Several hours later, one of the biggest manhunts in Columbus history flushed a man from a wooded area where the girl was attacked. Police called him a prime suspect.

Police said James Franklin Bond, 24, surrendered quietly after his brother talked to him over a loudspeaker.

Officers said he was badly cut up and was taken to Mercy Hospital, where he was placed under police guard.

Columbus Police Chief George W. Scholer personally directed the cordon of law officers who surrounded a 300-acre area and finally cornered Bond in bushes near an abandoned house, a few hundred yards from the spot where the girl was found.

No charges were placed against Bond immediately.

You Can Turn Unused Attic Into An Asset

PORTLAND, Ore. — Among the most fortunate people in the country are those who have a dusty, catch-all attic in their home, for it is here that a sparkling new, badly-needed family room or extra bedroom can be installed.

Usually, the biggest problem in converting an attic into a useful element of the house is not so much the redecoration involved as the construction of a stairwell connecting the attic with the story below.

Providing adequate access to the new room, admittedly, can be a bit tricky, but with the skillful help of an architect, anything is possible.

Because of the lack of space that can be devoted to it, the attic stairwell usually will have to be steep and of the wrap-around design. However, this liabliity can become an asset if care is given to its "decor."

For instance, emphasizing, instead of trying to minimize the stairwell's verticality often pays off.

This can be done by paneling the stairwell with a handsome wood like creamy beige west coast hemlock and installing the panel boards vertically. Then, a lamp of handsome contemporary design can be hung above the stairwell to provide the flood of light it needs and to continue the upward sweep of space. At the top, a simple, but decorative railing furnishes the finishing touch.

Decorating the new room is no trick at all, although for an attic room, the decor should be light and warm. Continuing the hemlock wall paneling from the stairwell into the attic room is probably the easiest and surest way to introduce both lightness and textured warmth.

The hemlock paneling, of course, should be finished clear, with just a coat of sealer applied to bring out its natural coloring and followed by a protective topping of wax or lacquer.

A lot of character and natural light will grace this attic room if the gable end is replaced with glass, a feat not nearly so difficult as it might sound.

Setting the glass panels in stout Douglas fir framing provides the necessary rigidity and lends a handsome touch to the glass wall. The window wall framing can either be left in its natural coloring or painted to match the main color or used for the attic room furnishings.

Data On Earnings Needed In Social Security Claims

"I didn't know you needed that information," seems to be the stock answer of persons filing for Social Security benefits.

Since Social Security benefits are computed from a person's earnings, it is logical to assume that questions will be asked about earnings. Therefore, a person should bring in all information and proof of earnings for the last two years prior to filing. If he was an employee, he should also have his monthly earnings for the last 13 months. If he was self-employed and transferred his business, he should bring in proof of the transfer, as well as tax returns and evidence of payment of tax for the last two years.

Since Social Security eligibility is based on age, some proof of age is necessary. A birth certificate is best, but many other items will do, such as any formal document or record at least 10 years old. Many have qualified thanks to a church, school, employment, or hospital record, an old insurance policy, or the entry by some older relative in a family Bible. A person should bring some proof of age for each person for whom they are filing—themselves, wife, widow, children and/or parent.

In many claims, information and proof of marriage is necessary, so a person should have it available when they file. In death claims, proof of death is necessary, as well as the above.

And last, but not least, Social Security cards should be presented for each eligible person, if the individual has one.

Since the requirements are different in each claim, all the above proofs may not be necessary in every case, but it doesn't hurt to bring in as much information and proof that you have because your timely action can greatly speed up that important first payment.

For further information contact the local Social Security office in the post office.

Ohioan Kills Daughter, Then Takes Own Life

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Paul M. Hall's neighbors described him as a deeply religious man.

Sunday night, he apparently went berserk.

A blast from a 16-gauge shotgun killed his 7-year-old daughter, Betty. Then Hall, 37, turned the weapon on himself. Sheriff's Detective James Alltop called it murder and suicide.

Alltop quoted Hall's wife, Jane, 31, as saying it all started with an argument in their suburban Northridge home in which Hall blackened his wife's eye.

Suggestions Are Given For Scraping Varnish

By ANDREW C. LANG

QUESTION: About two years ago I took some varnish off a table with varnish remover and then refinished it. When the varnish had softened and I began the scraping with a putty knife, I nicked the wood a couple of times and then I had to do a lot of extra sanding to remove the marks. I'd like to avoid such a mistake again. What is your advice?

Answer: In scraping off the loosened varnish, it is important that the putty knife be held at a low angle rather than upright or close to it. Held in this fashion, the putty knife will not do its work as rapidly, but it's a lot safer. In fact, in this kind of work, it's better to use a dull putty knife rather than a sharp one. You might also consider the possibility of using one of the chemical removers designed to eliminate the scraping.

QUESTION: I have some concrete work all lined up for this summer and I have been doing a lot of reading on the subject. I note that some of the recommended mixtures for making concrete include hydrated lime and some do not. Can you tell me the purpose of the lime?

Answer: Hydrated lime tends to make the concrete flow more easily. Therefore, it is used on projects where this condition is desirable. For instance, hydrated lime is excellent in mortar mixtures to be used in brickwork, since it enables the mortar to be packed in tightly.

QUESTION: I plan on putting up a fiberglass roof over the patio in back of our house. Is redwood a good choice for the framing? And how high should the roof be from the ground?

Answer: Redwood is excellent choice, since it is one of the woods which stand up well under the elements. For even more durability under all weather conditions, use a clear preservative, which retains the original color of the wood and yet protects it from dampness, insects, etc. There is another type of preservative which performs the same functions but deepens the color of the wood for those who prefer it that way.

April Weather Marked With Extra Rain And Less Sunshine

More rain than usual and an acute lack of sunshine—which always leaves spring baseball fans disgruntled—marked the weather in April in the Tri-State area.

Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observor at Millport, said the average rainfall for the month usually associated with "spring showers" totalled 4.31 inches—compared to the average of only 3.08 inches for the past 66 years.

Nasty weather for the month was also emphasized in the fact that only 37 per cent of the days had sunshine compared to the average of 55 per cent.

The warmest day last month was recorded April 22—a balmy 78 degrees. The coldest day was a below-freezing 17 on April 14, Copeland said.

Although the average temperature for the month was 48 degrees—the 66-year-average is 47—only a trace of snow was recorded and that on April 12, Copeland pointed out.

All told, there were 16 cloudy days last month, 6 partly cloudy and 8 clear.

Heavy rains fell during the first four months of 1959, amounting to 14.33 inches. The 66-year-average rainfall for January, February, March and April combined is 11.39 inches.

The district was drenched late in April, with 3.11 inches of rain falling during the last 4 days of the month.

For May, Copeland predicted that "the grasses and crops will make rapid growth if we receive a few warm days." "However," he said, "there could be considerable loss of wheat and hay crops if we have a frost."

He added that "the ground has an abundance of water and the water table should be in good condition due to the above average rainfall which fell in the first four months."

Ceiling Window Now Popular Because Of Many Advantages

The type of window known as a ceiling window has become a very popular item in many modern homes because of the advantages it presents.

It has been generally recognized that these windows permit very good ventilation because they are located high up in the wall where heat accumulates under the ceiling. It is also recognized that they offer considerable privacy.

The occupants of a room can look out of them easily, but people outside the house find them above eye-level. There is no doubt at all about the fact that they increase the amount of usable wall space in a room, as beds, dressers and other types of furniture are usually of a type which fit along the wall below them. There is the certainty that active children will find it difficult to crawl out of them.

The cost of a single, double or triple-sash ceiling window is about one-half the cost of a standard-size double-hung window, another reason for their popularity.

Most of these ceiling windows are hinged at the top edge of the sash and open by being pushed outward. This has been found a good feature as they shed rain better than an open standard window. The small brackets, which hold them completely open or in partially open position, are also used to lock them in a closed position.

In the case of a house where some of the rooms lack cross-ventilation and the owner intends to correct the condition by installing another window, the use of the ceiling window will be found both practical and inexpensive.

Change Made At North End Of Freeway

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Highway Department has changed its mind about the path of some paving at the north end of the proposed Lake-to-River Freeway. It will conduct a public hearing on the matter Thursday in Jefferson.

As approved Jan. 5, the route would have come into Ohio 46 about 10 miles north of Jefferson, where 46 begins to run due south. But Robert Burket of the Highway Department's location and design section said division engineers suggested this might create traffic congestion in Jefferson.

The section connected with Ohio 46 would probably have been turned over to the county later, anyway, Burket explained, because the freeway when complete will swing east of Jefferson. So it's now proposed, he said, to take the route east of Jefferson between the Footsville-Richmond and Carson roads.

The 9½-mile section is expected to cost more than 10 million dollars, including right-of-way, engineering and construction.

Wound Proves Fatal To Ohio Psychologist

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A bullet wound in the head was fatal Saturday to Kermit Thomas, 31, of Alliance. An assistant psychologist at a state orphanage near Xenia, he was shot April 24 by a seemingly berserk employe there, Herman Oxford, 61, who killed himself seconds later.

Thomas never regained consciousness after the shooting at the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home. Doctors were afraid to operate for fear the surgery would kill him.

The cost of a single, double or triple-sash ceiling window is about one-half the cost of a standard-size double-hung window, another reason for their popularity.

Most of these ceiling windows are hinged at the top edge of the sash and open by being pushed outward. This has been found a good feature as they shed rain better than an open standard window. The small brackets, which hold them completely open or in partially open position, are also used to lock them in a closed position.

In the case of a house where some of the rooms lack cross-ventilation and the owner intends to correct the condition by installing another window, the use of the ceiling window will be found both practical and inexpensive.

Alabama's first settlers were French.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board has moved into a new million dollar building of its own. It is the eighth location since the board was formed 113 years ago.

Change Made At North End Of Freeway

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Highway Department has changed its mind about the path of some paving at the north end of the proposed Lake-to-River Freeway. It will conduct a public hearing on the matter Thursday in Jefferson.

As approved Jan. 5, the route would have come into Ohio 46 about 10 miles north of Jefferson, where 46 begins to run due south. But Robert Burket of the Highway Department's location and design section said division engineers suggested this might create traffic congestion in Jefferson.

The section connected with Ohio 46 would probably have been turned over to the county later, anyway, Burket explained, because the freeway when complete will swing east of Jefferson. So it's now proposed, he said, to take the route east of Jefferson between the Footsville-Richmond and Carson roads.

The 9½-mile section is expected to cost more than 10 million dollars, including right-of-way, engineering and construction.

Grant Beats Nats In Opener 5 To 0; Indians Drop 2nd

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Manager Joe Gordon has "found" two more pitchers to assist the mound corps that won 12 of the Indians' first 16 games.

Jim(Mudcat) Grant, 23-year-old right-hander, and veteran right-hander Mike Garcia both gave magnificent performances in their first starts of the season Sunday as the Tribe split a doubleheader with the Washington Senators to run its record to 13-5.

The first game was interrupted by a fight that broke out in the seventh inning. Several punches were thrown by members of both teams, but the only major casualty was Washington catcher J. W. Porter. He was spiked on the left arm and 13 stitches were required to close the gash.

Grant, who was in the Army during most of spring training, pitched a two-hitter in shutting out the Senators, 5-0, in the opener. The shutout was the first by a Cleveland hurler since last June 22, when Grant blanked the Senators, 1-0, on six hits.

Garcia, 35, who had not made a start since his spinal operation last summer, had a one-hitter going into the ninth inning of the nightcap, which Washington won, 3-1, on three unearned runs. He gave up only four hits, struck out six batters and walked but two in going the distance.

Julio Becquer's first-inning double was the only solid hit off Grant, who struck out six batters and walked five. Bob Allison was credited with a single when his pop fly dropped between third baseman Randy Jackson and catcher Russ Nixon in front of the plate in the third frame.

The only hit off Garcia through the first eight frames was a sixth-inning single by Allison.

Gordon said the slick jobs by Grant and Garcia would not complicate his pitching situation.

"You never can have too many good ones," the manager said. "We can use them all."

The fight resulted when Jim Piersall started toward the mound with a bat in his hand, accusing Washington hurler Pedro Ramos of throwing a brush-back pitch at him. The Cleveland center fielder was restrained by the umpires and then Gordon went toward the mound shouting at Ramos. Players from both dugouts swarmed onto the field when the pitcher took a swing at Gordon and soon there were several fights involving small groups of players.

Piersall, Ramos and Gordon were ejected from the game after order was restored.

The fracas followed a home run by Billy Martin, which scored George Strickland, who had led off the seventh with a single. The Indians got their other three runs in the third inning on singles by Martin and Piersall, a double by Vic Power, an error by Porter and a steal of home by Power.

Cleveland's run came in the second game in the bottom of the ninth on Rocky Colavito's home run, his sixth of the season.

The Indians, idle today, meet Baltimore here Tuesday night.

Dykes Works First Miracle As Tigers Beat Yanks Twice

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's too early to call Jimmy Dykes a miracle manager but the 62-year-old, cigar-smoking Sir James must have a Midas touch.

Look what the likeable little round man did just 24 hours after he had been appointed the Detroit manager.

He took a sadly disorganized Detroit team, brought an outfielder—Charlie Maxwell—out of the managerial doghouse and a pitcher—Don Mossi—out of the overworked bullpen and proceeded to lead—the cellar dwelling Tigers to a stunning doubleheader sweep over the New York Yankees. The scores of Dykes' auspicious debut were 4-2 and 8-2.

Thus, in one day, Dykes won as many games as his predecessor, Bill Norman, had won in the previous 17.

Giving reeling ball clubs a shot in the arm is nothing new for Dr. Dykes. Last August 14, he succeeded Birdie Tebbetts as manager of the last place Cincinnati Reds and directed them to a fourth place finish.

Dykes, of course, didn't pitch and didn't hit. The pitching was taken care of by Frank (Yankee Killer) Lary and Mossi; the hitting by Maxwell. Lary and Mossi allowed only eight hits apiece. The first game triumph was Lary's 17th in 22 lifetime decisions with the Yankees. He whipped them seven times last year.

Maxwell walloped four consecutive home runs to equal a major league record. Three of them came in the second game, during which he drove in six runs. Before Sunday, the left-handed Maxwell had hit only one homer, in a pinch hit role. He had lost his left field job to Larry Doby because of a batting slump.

The Yankees, who now have lost five in succession and nine of their last ten, now rest in seventh place, 6½ games behind the American League leading Cleveland, which split a doubleheader with Washington. After Jim Grant had pitched the Indians to a 5-0 triumph in the opener, Hal Griggs of Washington outpitched veteran Mike Garcia 3-1 in the nightcap.

Baltimore moved into a triple tie for second place with Chicago and Kansas City, defeating the White Sox 4-2 in 10 innings. The Athletics trounced Boston 7-3.

Billy Martin was the batting star of Cleveland's first game triumph. He drove in two runs with a single and homer and scored twice. The shutout was the first by Cleveland in the 107 games the Indians have played under Joe Gordon since he succeeded Bobby Bragan last season.

The second game runs were scored in the ninth inning. Washington tallied three unearned runs on an error, a single by Bob Allison, a two-run double by Harmon Killebrew and Ed Fitzgerald's single. Rocky Colavito ruined Griggs' shutout bid with a home run for the Indians in the last of the ninth.

Billy Gardner and Chico Carrasquel hit home runs in the tenth off relief pitcher Turk Lown to give Baltimore's Billy Loes his second triumph against one defeat. Loes replaced starter Billy O'Dell in the ninth.

Homers also won for Kansas City. Roger Maris and Bob Cerv were the four-bagger hitters, each coming with a man on base. Ralph Terry allowed eight hits for his second victory. Frank Malzone hit two homers for the losing Red Sox.

Aaron's 2 Homers Give Braves Lead; Pirates Win, 4-3

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

This may be the year in which Henry Aaron establishes himself as one of baseball's greatest right-handed hitters, alongside such famous sluggers as Rogers Hornsby, Harry Heilmann Ed Delehanty, Sam Crawford, Jimmy Foxx, Hank Greenberg and Al Simmons.

All the Milwaukee mauler did Sunday against the San Francisco Giants was hit a single and two home runs. He scored three runs and drove in another with a sacrifice fly as the Braves won 9-4 to regain first place from the Giants by half a game.

Aaron is batting an even .500 with 36 hits in 72 times at bat. He is tied with teammate Eddie Mathews for the league's home run leadership with 8; he leads in hits, is third in runs scored with 18, tied for third with 8 doubles, and tied for fifth with 20 runs batted in. His slugging percentage is an incredible .972.

If he continues even near his pace, Aaron is a good bet to capture the triple crown—home runs, runs batted in and batting percentage. He has won all three titles but never in one year.

Cincinnati and Los Angles were in a virtual tie with the Giants for second place following the split of their doubleheader. The Reds won the first game 6-3 and the Dodgers took the second, 7-1.

Chicago maintained its .500 level, dividing a pair with Philadelphia. The Cubs won the opener 4-3 and the Phillies triumphed in the nightcap 5-4. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 4-3 in the first game of their twin bill. The Cards were leading—1 after 6½ innings of the second game, halted by Pennsylvania's 7 p. m. curfew law. The game will be resumed June 2.

Six home runs featured Milwaukee's triumph over San Francisco. Lew Burdette allowed six hits in winning his fifth game for the Braves but three of those were home runs. Willie Mays, Daryl Spencer and Andre Rodgers got them for the Giants.

Del Crandall joined Aaron in the Braves' homer spree. A double by Frank Torre, however, was the key blow. It came with the bases full to highlight a five-run fifth against loser Johnny Antonelli and two relievers.

Jerry Lynch slammed a three-run homer in the ninth to snap a 3-3 tie and give the Reds their first game victory over the Dodgers. Bob Mabe won it in relief. Danny McDevitt got the Dodgers even, spacing 10 hits in the nightcap. Gil Hodges cracked a two-run single in the sixth to spark a three-run rally against loser Joe Nuxhall.

Bill Mazeroski tripled in the tying run in the seventh, then singled home the winning run in the ninth as Pittsburgh made it two in a row over St. Louis. Manager Solly Hemus drove in the lead run for the Cards with a double before the second game was halted by curfew. Hemus ignited a lively rhubarb in the sixth when his bat slipped and nearly hit pitcher Bennie Daniels. Earlier, Daniels had hit the Card skipper with a pitched ball. No blows were struck.

Lee Walls fourth hit, a double, drove in Tony Taylor with the winning run in the ninth in Chicago's first game triumph over Philadelphia. The Phillies rallied for two runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap to overcome a 4-3 deficit. Triples by Ed Bouchee and Wally Post were followed by Harry Anderson's game-winning single.

BELLAIRE — Bellaire High School outlasted St. Clairsville to win the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference track meet here Saturday afternoon.

Kiggans finished fourth in the high jump which was won by Tom Edmundson of Martins Ferry with a leap of 5 feet, 9½ inches.

The order of finish showed Steubenville third, 35; Martins Ferry, fourth, 26; Wellsville, fifth, 6; Cadiz and Toronto tied for sixth with 5 each, and Jefferson Union last with 2.

Hogan, Hawkins Begin Playoff In Colonial

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)— A couple of Texans—Ben Hogan and Fred Hawkins — clash for first money in the $27,300 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament today.

It will be Hawkins' first playoff try and he couldn't have met a fellow with more experience but less success at it.

Hogan, the Fort Worth great making a comeback to the winner's circle, has been in 12 playoffs in his illustrious career and won only one. That was the National Open of 1950. His last effort—in 1955—was a loss to Jack Fleck in the National Open.

Hawkins, the tall man from El Paso who has won a lot of money but only one tournament in 12 years of campaigning on the tour, fought a head-to-head duel with the great Hogan down the stretch Sunday to tie for first place at 285 for 72 holes.

Hogan took over the lead from Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla., at the eleventh hole where he sank a 12-foot putt for a birdie. Hawkins went into a tie with Hogan at the 14th where he got a birdie with an 8-foot putt while Hogan was taking a bogey.

They matched each other shot for shot coming in and Hogan blew a chance of winning $5,000 first money uncontested when he missed a 2½-foot putt on the final green.

Hawkins' sole tournament triumph has been the Oklahoma City Open in 1956. Hogan has won 64 tournaments in his career.

Kroil wound up with a horrendous 77 and a tie for fifth place with Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., who early in the round had pulled into a deadlock with Hogan for first place. But Hebert faded and shot a 75. Kroll and Hebert had 287, each taking down $1,500.

In a tie for third were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Tommy Jacobs of Whittier, Calif., who had 286 and won $1,900 each. Maxwell was one of five players to shoot under par on the final 18, he had a 69. Jacobs finished with a 73.

Boone, Simpson Figure In Trade By White Sox, A's

CHICAGO (AP) — "We're going to keep trading until we come up with some help," said Bill Veeck after he swapped Ray Boone for Harry Simpson of Kansas City Sunday.

Veeck, who controls the Chicago White Sox with his 54 per cent of stock, was dickering with Baltimore Manager Paul Richards after his Sox dropped a 4-2 decision in 10 innings.

The Simpson trade was the second in two days for the Sox who earlier sent pitcher Don Rudolph and outfielder Lou Skizas to Cincinnati for Del Ennis.

Simpson, 33, had his greatest season with Kansas City in 1956 when he batted .293 and his 21 home runs.

Boone, came to Chicago from Detroit last May.

Ernie Oravetz of Tampa, Fla., former Washington outfielder, is back with Chattanooga of the Southern Assn. He hit .320 there in 1958.

Shoemaker Picked Right Horse To Ride In Derby

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Willie Shoemaker made the right choice when he selected Tomy Lee over Sword Dancer as his Kentucky Derby mount. The English-bred Tomy Lee beat Sword Dancer by a nose.

But had the four-time national riding champion selected Sword Dancer, he still would have been right. That was the opinion of trainers today after one of the most thrilling of the 85 derbies at Churchill Downs.

Tomy Lee's 71-year-old trainer, Frank Childs, said, "That eight inches (the margin of victory) makes a great horse out of Tomy Lee. However, I think that if we had switched jockeys (with Shoemaker on Sword Dancer) the other horse might have won. I'd have to give it to him."

"If you don't get Shoemaker it looks as if you might as well not run," said Moody Jolley, trainer of Dunce, who finished seventh in the 17-horse field. "Boland had the race won but Shoemaker just outrode him."

Elliott Burch, trainer of Sword Dancer, refused to answer when asked if his horse would have won had Shoemaker been in the saddle in place of Bill Boland. Burch learned only last Monday that Shoemaker had decided on Tomy Lee instead of Sword Dancer. Shoemaker also could have ridden Royal Orbit.

"I know our horse runs much better for Shoemaker," said Dr. Jock Jacoy, West Coast veterinarian who attends Royal Orbit.

Other trainers also said they thought Shoemaker would have won on either of the first two horses.

"And that isn't taking anything away from Boland," said one. "He's a great hand rider. But Shoemaker has that little something extra."

Pictures of the race show that Shoemaker shifted his whip to his left hand in the final yards, gave Tomy Lee three cracks and then literally lifted the Texas-owned colt under the wire with a great hand ride.

Boland claimed he was bothered by Tomy Lee several times in the stretch but the stewards, after reviewing the pictures and holding up the official decision for 18 minutes, said there was not enough contact to warrant changing the order of the finish.

First Landing, the 1958 two-year-old champion and a slight choice over Tomy Lee, trailed by another 2¼ lengths for third money.

Despite the respect for Shoemaker, a number of the horses who trailed Tomy Lee will take another shot at Fred Turner Jr.'s ace in the Preakness May 16. They include Sword Dancer, First Landing, Royal Orbit and perhaps Dunce and Open View.

As for the derby, Tomy Lee ran the 1¼ miles in the fast time of 2:02 1-5, earned a net of $119,650 for the second richest purse in the race's history and ran his total earnings to $371,617. He paid $9.40.

Patterson's Next Fight Slated For Closed-Circuit TV

By The Associated Press

Look for an announcement soon that the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight will be telecast into theaters and arenas.

TelePrompTer appears to have clinched the deal with promoter Bill Rosensohn, a former TPT executive, for the TV rights to the June 25 international scrap in Yankee Stadium. The closed circuit telecast will not be beamed into your living room.

Patterson, incidentally, is only a 13-5 favorite now to beat the undefeated Swede who holds the European championship.

Mexico's Gaspar Ortega and Rudell Stitch of Louisville will have it out in a return bout at Syracuse, N. Y., Friday night in the television headliner (NBC 9 p.m., EST). Ortego won by a hairline, one-point decision in their first meeting at New York last Feb. 6.

The Unlucky Mexican Indian suffered cuts in that clash and has been sidelined since. Gaspar's record is 48-14-2, including 20 kayos. Stitch's record is 19-5, including 10 kayos.

Gene Snyder, 28, scored his first victory above Class B ball this spring when he received credit for the Dodgers' 17-11 win over the Cardinals. He worked three innings in relief.

Man Isn't Around To Take $64,000 He Won At Track

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (AP) —An unidentified man from California's Imperial Valley won $64,069 at the races—but didn't stick around to collect it.

The man placed a wager in the 5-10 handicap contest at the Caliente track Sunday, but had to leave before the program was over to catch a bus back to El Centro.

The track announced after the 10th race that only one bettor had picked six straight winners, in the 5th through 10th races. That bettor was entitled to the entire gross award of $62,837, plus two consolation shares of $616 each.

A few minutes later, a middle-aged man turned up at the cashier's window and showed a copy of the winning ticket. He said his cousin, who had left early, held the official ticket. He said he was going to call the cousin to advise him he had won. But he wouldn't give his cousin's name.

Grant Beats Nats In Opener 5 To 0; Indians Drop 2nd

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Manager Joe Gordon has "found" two more pitchers to assist the mound corps that won 12 of the Indians' first 16 games.

Jim(Mudcat) Grant, 23-year-old right-hander, and veteran right-hander Mike Garcia both gave magnificent performances in their first starts of the season Sunday as the Tribe split a doubleheader with the Washington Senators to run its record to 13-5.

The first game was interrupted by a fight that broke out in the seventh inning. Several punches were thrown by members of both teams, but the only major casualty was Washington catcher J. W. Porter. He was spiked on the left arm and 13 stitches were required to close the gash.

Grant, who was in the Army during most of spring training, pitched a two-hitter in shutting out the Senators, 5-0, in the opener. The shutout was the first by a Cleveland hurler since last June 22, when Grant blanked the Senators, 1-0, on six hits.

Garcia, 35, who had not made a start since his spinal operation last summer, had a one-hitter going into the ninth inning of the nightcap, which Washington won, 3-1, on three unearned runs. He gave up only four hits, struck out six batters and walked but two in going the distance.

Julio Becquer's first-inning double was the only solid hit off Grant, who struck out six batters and walked five. Bob Allison was credited with a single when his pop fly dropped between third baseman Randy Jackson and catcher Russ Nixon in front of the plate in the third frame.

The only hit off Garcia through the first eight frames was a sixth-inning single by Allison.

Gordon said the slick jobs by Grant and Garcia would not complicate his pitching situation.

"You never can have too many good ones," the manager said. "We can use them all."

The fight resulted when Jim Piersall started toward the mound with a bat in his hand, accusing Washington hurler Pedro Ramos of throwing a brush-back pitch at him. The Cleveland center fielder was restrained by the umpires and then Gordon went toward the mound shouting at Ramos. Players from both dugouts swarmed onto the field when the pitcher took a swing at Gordon and soon there were several fights involving small groups of players.

Piersall, Ramos and Gordon were ejected from the game after order was restored.

The fracas followed a home run by Billy Martin, which scored George Strickland, who had led off the seventh with a single. The Indians got their other three runs in the third inning on singles by Martin and Piersall, a double by Vic Power, an error by Porter and a steal of home by Power.

Cleveland's run came in the second game in the bottom of the ninth on Rocky Colavito's home run, his sixth of the season.

The Indians, idle today, meet Baltimore here Tuesday night.

Dykes Works First Miracle As Tigers Beat Yanks Twice

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's too early to call Jimmy Dykes a miracle manager but the 62-year-old, cigar-smoking Sir James must have a Midas touch.

Look what the likeable little round man did just 24 hours after he had been appointed the Detroit manager.

He took a sadly disorganized Detroit team, brought an outfielder—Charlie Maxwell—out of the managerial doghouse and a pitcher—Don Mossi—out of the overworked bullpen and proceeded to lead—the cellar dwelling Tigers to a stunning doubleheader sweep over the New York Yankees. The scores of Dykes' auspicious debut were 4-2 and 8-2.

Thus, in one day, Dykes won as many games as his predecessor, Bill Norman, had won in the previous 17.

Giving reeling ball clubs a shot in the arm is nothing new for Dr. Dykes. Last August 14, he succeeded Birdie Tebbetts as manager of the last place Cincinnati Reds and directed them to a fourth place finish.

Dykes, of course, didn't pitch and didn't hit. The pitching was taken care of by Frank (Yankee Killer) Lary and Mossi; the hitting by Maxwell. Lary and Mossi allowed only eight hits apiece. The first game triumph was Lary's 17th in 22 lifetime decisions with the Yankees. He whipped them seven times last year.

Maxwell walloped four consecutive home runs to equal a major league record. Three of them came in the second game, during which he drove in six runs. Before Sunday, the left-handed Maxwell had hit only one homer, in a pinch hit role. He had lost his left field job to Larry Doby because of a batting slump.

The Yankees, who now have lost five in succession and nine of their last ten, now rest in seventh place, 6½ games behind the American League leading Cleveland, which split a doubleheader with Washington. After Jim Grant had pitched the Indians to a 5-0 triumph in the opener, Hal Griggs of Washington outpitched veteran Mike Garcia 3-1 in the nightcap.

Baltimore moved into a triple tie for second place with Chicago and Kansas City, defeating the White Sox 4-2 in 10 innings. The Athletics trounced Boston 7-3.

Billy Martin was the batting star of Cleveland's first game triumph. He drove in two runs with a single and homer and scored twice. The shutout was the first by Cleveland in the 107 games the Indians have played under Joe Gordon since he succeeded Bobby Bragan last season.

The second game runs were scored in the ninth inning. Washington tallied three unearned runs on an error, a single by Bob Allison, a two-run double by Harmon Killebrew and Ed Fitzgerald's single. Rocky Colavito ruined Griggs' shutout bid with a home run for the Indians in the last of the ninth.

Billy Gardner and Chico Carrasquel hit home runs in the tenth off relief pitcher Turk Lown to give Baltimore's Billy Loes his second triumph against one defeat. Loes replaced starter Billy O'Dell in the ninth.

Homers also won for Kansas City. Roger Maris and Bob Cerv were the four-bagger hitters, each coming with a man on base. Ralph Terry allowed eight hits for his second victory. Frank Malzone hit two homers for the losing Red Sox.

Aaron's 2 Homers Give Braves Lead; Pirates Win, 4-3

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

This may be the year in which Henry Aaron establishes himself as one of baseball's greatest right-handed hitters, alongside such famous sluggers as Rogers Hornsby, Harry Heilmann Ed Delehanty, Sam Crawford, Jimmy Foxx, Hank Greenberg and Al Simmons.

All the Milwaukee mauler did Sunday against the San Francisco Giants was hit a single and two home runs. He scored three runs and drove in another with a sacrifice fly as the Braves won 9-4 to regain first place from the Giants by half a game.

Aaron is batting an even .500 with 36 hits in 72 times at bat. He is tied with teammate Eddie Mathews for the league's home run leadership with 8; he leads in hits, is third in runs scored with 18, tied for third with 8 doubles, and tied for fifth with 20 runs batted in. His slugging percentage is an incredible .972.

If he continues even near his pace, Aaron is a good bet to capture the triple crown—home runs, runs batted in and batting percentage. He has won all three titles but never in one year.

Cincinnati and Los Angles were in a virtual tie with the Giants for second place following the split of their doubleheader. The Reds won the first game 6-3 and the Dodgers took the second, 7-1.

Chicago maintained its .500 level, dividing a pair with Philadelphia. The Cubs won the opener 4-3 and the Phillies triumphed in the nightcap 5-4. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 4-3 in the first game of their twin bill. The Cards were leading—1 after 6½ innings of the second game, halted by Pennsylvania's 7 p. m. curfew law. The game will be resumed June 2.

Six home runs featured Milwaukee's triumph over San Francisco. Lew Burdette allowed six hits in winning his fifth game for the Braves but three of those were home runs. Willie Mays, Daryl Spencer and Andre Rodgers got them for the Giants.

Del Crandall joined Aaron in the Braves' homer spree. A double by Frank Torre, however, was the key blow. It came with the bases full to highlight a five-run fifth against loser Johnny Antonelli and two relievers.

Jerry Lynch slammed a three-run homer in the ninth to snap a 3-3 tie and give the Reds their first game victory over the Dodgers. Bob Mabe won it in relief. Danny McDevitt got the Dodgers even, spacing 10 hits in the nightcap. Gil Hodges cracked a two-run single in the sixth to spark a three-run rally against loser Joe Nuxhall.

Bill Mazeroski tripled in the tying run in the seventh, then singled home the winning run in the ninth as Pittsburgh made it two in a row over St. Louis. Manager Solly Hemus drove in the lead run for the Cards with a double before the second game was halted by curfew. Hemus ignited a lively rhubarb in the sixth when his bat slipped and nearly hit pitcher Bennie Daniels. Earlier, Daniels had hit the Card skipper with a pitched ball. No blows were struck.

Lee Walls fourth hit, a double, drove in Tony Taylor with the winning run in the ninth in Chicago's first game triumph over Philadelphia. The Phillies rallied for two runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap to overcome a 4-3 deficit. Triples by Ed Bouchee and Wally Post were followed by Harry Anderson's game-winning single.

Shoemaker Picked Right Horse To Ride In Derby

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Willie Shoemaker made the right choice when he selected Tomy Lee over Sword Dancer as his Kentucky Derby mount. The English-bred Tomy Lee beat Sword Dancer by a nose.

But had the four-time national riding champion selected Sword Dancer, he still would have been right. That was the opinion of trainers today after one of the most thrilling of the 85 derbies at Churchill Downs.

Tomy Lee's 71-year-old trainer, Frank Childs, said, "That eight inches (the margin of victory) makes a great horse out of Tomy Lee. However, I think that if we had switched jockeys (with Shoemaker on Sword Dancer) the other horse might have won. I'd have to give it to him."

"If you don't get Shoemaker it looks as if you might as well not run," said Moody Jolley, trainer of Dunce, who finished seventh in the 17-horse field. "Boland had the race won but Shoemaker just outrode him."

Elliott Burch, trainer of Sword Dancer, refused to answer when asked if his horse would have won had Shoemaker been in the saddle in place of Bill Boland. Burch learned only last Monday that Shoemaker had decided on Tomy Lee instead of Sword Dancer. Shoemaker also could have ridden Royal Orbit.

"I know our horse runs much better for Shoemaker," said Dr. Jock Jacoy, West Coast veterinarian who attends Royal Orbit.

Other trainers also said they thought Shoemaker would have won on either of the first two horses.

"And that isn't taking anything away from Boland," said one. "He's a great hand rider. But Shoemaker has that little something extra."

Pictures of the race show that Shoemaker shifted his whip to his left hand in the final yards, gave Tomy Lee three cracks and then literally lifted the Texas-owned colt under the wire with a great hand ride.

Boland claimed he was bothered by Tomy Lee several times in the stretch but the stewards, after reviewing the pictures and holding up the official decision for 18 minutes, said there was not enough contact to warrant changing the order of the finish.

First Landing, the 1958 two-year-old champion and a slight choice over Tomy Lee, trailed by another 2¼ lengths for third money.

Despite the respect for Shoemaker, a number of the horses who trailed Tomy Lee will take another shot at Fred Turner Jr.'s ace in the Preakness May 16. They include Sword Dancer, First Landing, Royal Orbit and perhaps Dunce and Open View.

As for the derby, Tomy Lee ran the 1¼ miles in the fast time of 2:02 1-5, earned a net of $119,650 for the second richest purse in the race's history and ran his total earnings to $371,617. He paid $9.40.

BELLAIRE — Bellaire High School outlasted St. Clairsville to win the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference track meet here Saturday afternoon.

Bellaire piled up 53½ points to St. Clairsville's 52½. Coach Ken Woods' Wellsville squad finished fifth in the meet with six points.

Dan Baldwin and sophomore Bob Kiggans scored for the Tigers. Baldwin was second in the half-mile run in a time of 2.04. Baldwin and the winner, John Hughes of St. Clairsville, both broke the old meet record of 2.04.8 for the 880. Hughes' time was 2.03.4.

Kiggans finished fourth in the high jump which was won by Tom Edmundson of Martins Ferry with a leap of 5 feet, 9½ inches.

The order of finish showed Steubenville third, 35; Martins Ferry, fourth, 26; Wellsville, fifth, 6; Cadiz and Toronto tied for sixth with 5 each, and Jefferson Union last with 2.

Hogan, Hawkins Begin Playoff In Colonial

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)— A couple of Texans—Ben Hogan and Fred Hawkins — clash for first money in the $27,300 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament today.

It will be Hawkins' first playoff try and he couldn't have met a fellow with more experience but less success at it.

Hogan, the Fort Worth great making a comeback to the winner's circle, has been in 12 playoffs in his illustrious career and won only one. That was the National Open of 1950. His last effort—in 1955—was a loss to Jack Fleck in the National Open.

Hawkins, the tall man from El Paso who has won a lot of money but only one tournament in 12 years of campaigning on the tour, fought a head-to-head duel with the great Hogan down the stretch Sunday to tie for first place at 285 for 72 holes.

Hogan took over the lead from Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla., at the eleventh hole where he sank a 12-foot putt for a birdie. Hawkins went into a tie with Hogan at the 14th where he got a birdie with an 8-foot putt while Hogan was taking a bogey.

They matched each other shot for shot coming in and Hogan blew a chance of winning $5,000 first money uncontested when he missed a 2½-foot putt on the final green.

Hawkins' sole tournament triumph has been the Oklahoma City Open in 1956. Hogan has won 64 tournaments in his career.

Kroll wound up with a horrendous 77 and a tie for fifth place with Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., who early in the round had pulled into a deadlock with Hogan for first place. But Hebert faded and shot a 75. Kroll and Hebert had 287, each taking down $1,500.

In a tie for third were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Tommy Jacobs of Whittier, Calif., who had 286 and won $1,900 each. Maxwell was one of five players to shoot under par on the final 18, he had a 69. Jacobs finished with a 73.

Boone, Simpson Figure In Trade By White Sox, A's

CHICAGO (AP) — "We're going to keep trading until we come up with some help," said Bill Veeck after he swapped Ray Boone for Harry Simpson of Kansas City Sunday.

Veeck, who controls the Chicago White Sox with his 54 per cent of stock, was dickering with Baltimore Manager Paul Richards after his Sox dropped a 4-2 decision in 10 innings.

The Simpson trade was the second in two days for the Sox who earlier sent pitcher Don Rudolph and outfielder Lou Skizas to Cincinnati for Del Ennis.

Simpson, 33, had his greatest season with Kansas City in 1956 when he batted .293 and his 21 home runs.

Boone, came to Chicago from Detroit last May.

Ernie Oravetz of Tampa, Fla., former Washington outfielder, is back with Chattanooga of the Southern Assn. He hit .320 there in 1958.

Gas Workers Go Back In Pittsburgh District

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Maintenance work was back to normal today at Pittsburgh district operations of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. following the end of a two-day strike by members of Local 12051, District 50, of the United Mine Workers.

Members of the local voted Sunday, 106-72, to accept a one-year contract that provides a 5 per cent wage increase amounting to about $23 a month.

The local represents workers in the Pittsburgh, Clairton and McKeesport areas. Settlements also have been concluded with locals in the Uniontown, Brownsville and Washington, Pa., districts and in Weirton.

Some 113 members of the AFL-CIO Utility Workers Union still were striking against the company in Wheeling. They left their jobs last Thursday.

Tuesday he will be guest of honor at a birthday reception and tea given here by the Ladies of Charity of the New York Catholic Charties.

Cardinal Spellman has been archbishop of New York 20 years.

Gas Workers Go Back In Pittsburgh District

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Maintenance work was back to normal today at Pittsburgh district operations of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. following the end of a two-day strike by members of Local 12051, District 50, of the United Mine Workers.

Members of the local voted Sunday, 106-72, to accept a one-year contract that provides a 5 per cent wage increase amounting to about $23 a month.

The local represents workers in the Pittsburgh, Clairton and McKeesport areas. Settlements also have been concluded with locals in the Uniontown, Brownsville and Washington, Pa., districts and in Weirton.

Some 113 members of the AFL-CIO Utility Workers Union still were striking against the company in Wheeling. They left their jobs last Thursday.

Spellman Keeps Busy On His 70th Birthday

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, 70 years old today, isn't skipping church activities even for the day.

Tuesday he will be guest of honor at a birthday reception and tea given here by the Ladies of Charity of the New York Catholic Charties.

Cardinal Spellman has been archbishop of New York 20 years.

Officers Told To Bring In Pair Cited For 5th St. Drag Racing

Judge George L. Brokaw today ordered police to bring two young motorists, arrested Sunday night for drag racing on E. 5th St., into Municipal Court.

When John L. Bird, 22, of 10 Ruth St. and John D. Board, 22, of Georgetown R. D. 1 failed to appear this morning, Judge Brokaw declined to forfeit the $31 bonds they had posted on reckless driving charges, instructing police to have them appear.

Ironically, the two racers were halted by a foot patrolman, Officer W. E. Nott.

The patrolman said he halted Board on E. 5th St. about 7:30 p. m. after spotting the two drag racing.

Board said another car had been playing tag with him from the East End and almost forced him off the road. Board said he lost his temper and started to race.

The patrolman said he was unable to stop Bird but took his license number and a description of his car and relayed it to cruiser officers. Patrolman Jerry Adkins spotted Bird about 9 p. m. and sent him to headquarters where he was charged.

Woodrow Rockhold of Toronto R. D. 2 was fined $300 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months after pleading guilty to a drunk driving charge.

A charge of using illegal mufflers was withdrawn.

Rockhold was stopped by Lt. Michael Winters about 5 a. m. Sunday in the Diamond when the officer went to investigate the loud muffler. He said Rockhold was jerking his car and flashing his lights.

George M. Hornick of Toronto forfeited $16 on a charge of illegal muffler. He was cited Saturday night on Michigan Ave., police said.

Arthur V. Martin of Erie, Mich., forfeited $11 after being cited by the State Highway Patrol Saturday night for driving against the flow of traffic.

Officers Told To Bring In Pair Cited For 5th St. Drag Racing

Judge George L. Brokaw today ordered police to bring two young motorists, arrested Sunday night for drag racing on E. 5th St., into Municipal Court.

When John L. Bird, 22, of 10 Ruth St. and John D. Board, 22, of Georgetown R. D. 1 failed to appear this morning, Judge Brokaw declined to forfeit the $31 bonds they had posted on reckless driving charges, instructing police to have them appear.

Ironically, the two racers were halted by a foot patrolman, Officer W. E. Nott.

The patrolman said he halted Board on E. 5th St. about 7:30 p. m. after spotting the two drag racing.

Board said another car had been playing tag with him from the East End and almost forced him off the road. Board said he lost his temper and started to race.

The patrolman said he was unable to stop Bird but took his license number and a description of his car and relayed it to cruiser officers. Patrolman Jerry Adkins spotted Bird about 9 p. m. and sent him to headquarters where he was charged.

Woodrow Rockhold of Toronto R. D. 2 was fined $300 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months after pleading guilty to a drunk driving charge.

A charge of using illegal mufflers was withdrawn.

Rockhold was stopped by Lt. Michael Winters about 5 a. m. Sunday in the Diamond when the officer went to investigate the loud muffler. He said Rockhold was jerking his car and flashing his lights.

George M. Hornick of Toronto forfeited $16 on a charge of illegal muffler. He was cited Saturday night on Michigan Ave., police said.

Arthur V. Martin of Erie, Mich., forfeited $11 after being cited by the State Highway Patrol Saturday night for driving against the flow of traffic.

William Stansbury, 157 Haywood St., is to appear Wednesday morning in Municipal Court on a charge of crashing a traffic signal at E. 5th St. and Broadway Sunday night.
